FEAR ESCAPE OF OIL CASE SUSPECTS

13 Die As Flames Raze N. Y. Tenement

FIRE EATS BUILDING QUICKLY

Patrolman Braves Death In Flames to Arouse Sleeping Tenants

TWO FAMILIES ARE ALMOST WIPED OUT

Relatives Seek to Identify Bodies Charred Beyond Recognition

(By United Press Leased Wire)
NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—Thirteen charred bodies, victims of one of the worst tenement fires New York has experienced in years, will be laid side by side in a Twenty-sixth street morgue here this afternoon while sorrowing relatives attempt to identify them.

After extensive investigation, police and the fire marshal's office abandoned their first theory that the fire which broke out early today and swept through the tenement with savage fury, was of incendiary origin.

Lewis Schoenfeld, an epileptic, arrested as he was fleeing from the blazing house, was released.

Discoverer of Flames
Patrolman Michael Reusline, who discovered the blaze, told a graphic story of the disaster.

"I saw smoke pouring out of the building," he said, "and then saw a man (Schoenfeld) running away. I grabbed the man and held him until help came and then rushed into the building."

"It was terrible. The flames were roaring up through a sort of natural flue formed by stairways of wood."

"I managed to house some people and help them to safety."

"There was a little girl in a crib. I took her in one arm and carried her with me. As I ran through the halls, beating on doors with my light stick and shouting. The girl's clothing caught fire and I had to stop once to beat out the flames."

Firemen said the flames burned themselves out in a few minutes, easily through the cheaply built old house with lightning rapidity.

Trapped by Smoke
The dead were suffocated in their beds as the flames roared to the upper floors, filling them with thick, acrid smoke. Scores of the tenants saved their lives by jumping onto adjacent roofs.

Two families were almost wiped out. Bernard Barrett, a laborer, his wife and two children all perished, the only surviving member being a daughter, Margaret, who is in a hospital badly burned. Alex Bonui lost his entire family—wife and three sons—and he is in a hospital suffering from severe burns. Benjamin Berger, his wife and a young son and daughter all perished. A Mrs. Bessie Schmidt, 40, also is among the known dead.

"30" BULLETINS

Efforts were being made today to have Miss Evangeline Booth, commander of all Salvation Army forces, in attendance here tomorrow when dedicatory services are held in the Army's new $18,000 home service building. Miss Booth, now in Los Angeles, has been suffering from throat trouble, but former Mayor J. G. Mitchell and other members of the Salvation Army advisory committee were endeavoring to have the national leader visit the new building, even though she does not feel able to address the assemblage.

Father Of Poison Booze Victim Urges Slaying Of Rum Peddlers

PHOENIX, Feb. 19.—"Take your guns. Go out and shoot down every bootlegger as you would a mad dog."

This was the bitter declaration of Dr. Harry A. Hughes here today, following the burial of his son, Harry A. Hughes Jr., killed, according to the father's admission, by illicit liquor poisoning. Young Hughes was also a physician.

"These sellers of death-dealing liquor rob the health and steal the lives of our children. The courts cannot accomplish their determination, and it is the duty of us parents to shoot down these carriers of death where they ply their illicit trade."

"That is the only way left to stamp out the booze menace," Dr. Hughes declared. "Although the authorities are doing all in their power, perhaps that is not enough. Bitter experience has proven it to me. A bootlegger may be fined or jailed, but such sentences only serve to quicken him in his damnable business when he is released."

Government of Egypt May Force American To Quit Desert Tomb

PARIS BOURSE IN PANIC AS FRANCS STAGE NEW DROP

PARIS, Feb. 19.—The French franc suffered a fresh collapse today, crashing from 23.80 to the dollar at the opening to 24.30 at 11:10 a. m.

The pound sterling was quoted at 101 francs, 80 centimes at the opening and 103.70 at 11:10.

The conditions in the money market were described as "panicky." The Chamber of Deputies was in stormy session until 5:30 a. m. in frantic discussion of the situation.

Just before adjournment the tired legislators, worn from a night of hectic argument, at times featured by the wildest debate, adopted twenty-five articles of the government financial program.

Discussion of eighty-one other articles will be continued Wednesday. Further difficulties are feared regarding the proposed monopoly on matches, etc.

Orders Swap Brokers
There was intense excitement when the Bourse opened at noon. The interior of the stock market was jammed with a yelling mass of brokers, swamped with orders for heavy selling of French securities and purchasing of foreign issues.

The rush of orders was so great that departments were swamped and no stocks were listed for sale for several minutes after the opening.

Financial circles were in a near panic as a result of the sharp break in prices as it had been expected the quick action of the chamber of deputies involving the 20 per cent tax increase would exercise a stabilizing effect on the market.

The government was reported considering new measures to halt the slump.

DOCK STRIKE PROFITEERS ARE HIT

British Feel Full Force of Tie-up As Stevedores Remain Idle

(By United Press Leased Wire)

LONDON, Feb. 19.—As the strike of dock workers entered its fourth day today there was widespread hope that Prime Minister MacDonald's early intervention may shorten the tie-up.

The whole press has come out in full-hearted support of the government.

Prime Minister MacDonald's warning to profiteers is "timely and needed," the Daily Mail said.

"The government is to be congratulated for its display of firmness. The warning referred to was issued last night after a meeting of the cabinet which discussed the strike situation."

"The cabinet has information from various parts of the country," an official statement after the meeting said, "that the prices of meat and other commodities have been increased from 33 1/2 to 50 per cent."

"There is no reason for these increases except the power of profiteers to extract them from the public."

"The cabinet hopes it will be effective in stopping gouging but meantime it has asked its law officers to consider the government's powers and draft emergency measures necessary to prevent exploitation of consumers."

"The full force of the strike began to be felt today. Hundreds of ships arriving at British ports from the four corners of the earth docked and lay idle facing the prospects of seeing cargoes rot in their holds unless the strike is settled."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—House Democrats were confident today of sweeping aside all Republican proposals as the house prepared to vote on the income tax schedules of the New revenue bill.

All hope of a compromise between Republicans and progressives has been abandoned and adoption of the Garner plan seems virtually assured.

Republican leaders, conceding the main provisions of the Mellon plan will go down before a combination of Democratic and Progressive votes are now pinning their faith in the senate to rewrite the bill nearer to the desires of President Coolidge.

No Will Found In $330,000 Estate of Ford

If George W. Ford, pioneer rancher and horseman who died recently, left a will it has not been found.

This became known here today when it was learned that Superior Judge Z. B. West had been asked to file a petition for letters of administration upon the estate as the nominee of some of those interested in the estate. Judge West said that he had consented to act as administrator of the estate and would file a petition within a few days unless a will is found.

The property of the estate consists largely of real estate, including twenty acres on Ross street between West Washington avenue and West Seventeenth street and a ranch on the state highway near the county hospital. It is estimated that the estate is valued at between $300,000 and $500,000.

PASADENA, Feb. 19.—Head-on collision of two automobiles on the foothill boulevard will claim at least four lives, according to word from the Keaster hospital, in Lamanda Park, today.

Two are already dead following the tragedy, which occurred last night, while two other victims are momentarily expected to die, hospital attendants stated.

Gladys Lewis, 15, and Mrs. R. Sherman, 60, both of Pasadena, were instantly killed in the crash in which a light touring car and a large machine came together with terrific impact on the highway.

Cecil George and Mrs. Wiley Lewis, also of Pasadena, will die, the hospital announced, while other members of the party were seriously injured.

W. E. Fox, of Los Angeles; Mildred Donaldson, Pasadena; Clarence E. Newton of Lawndale; the Rev. R. Sherman, husband of the dead woman, and Wiley Lewis, father of Gladys, were all injured. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis were riding in the small car, while the other parties in the tragedy were in the big machine.

Both cars were demolished, while the larger one turned over five times and caught fire, it was reported.

Occupants of the two machines were on their way to San Bernardino it was reported.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—The condition of Senator Frank L. Green, of Vermont, seriously wounded Friday night by a stray bullet in a battle between prohibition "extremists" today, his physician, Dr. Daniel L. Borden, announced.

"The chances are against Senator Green's recovery," Dr. Borden said. "He has suffered a severe hemorrhage of the brain. This was caused by a fragment of bone striking a blood vessel within the brain itself."

NINE SUSPECTS IN HUGE GEM PLOT TAKEN

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 19.—Nine suspects were under arrest here today in connection with the $200,000 jewelry theft recently of the Providence Loan Association, while two of those believed leaders in the huge crime are momentarily expected to be captured.

Billy O'Conner and Jimmy Blanton are the two men wanted. Police believe they are either in San Francisco, where they went to dispose of part of the loot, or are en route back to Los Angeles.

These two, together with "Red" McCarthy, are said to have planned and carried out the robbery. McCarthy is under arrest, and police say he has confessed.

McCarthy was held incommunicado yesterday in the Pasadena city jail, and nearly gained his freedom, it was admitted today. He sawed through the bars of his cell and was saving the bars on an outside window, preparatory to fleeing, when apprehended and returned to safe keeping.

The other suspects, including McCarthy's pretty young wife and other men and women, are believed implicated in the Providence crime, as well as a bank robbery here and one in San Francisco where a branch of the Bank of Italy was looted.

SANTA FE SPRINGS, Feb. 19.—The Santa Fe Springs bank announces that the institution will build a new home of brick and stone, plans being in preparation for the immediate erection of the building.

GLENDALF LETS CONTRACT
GLENDALF, Feb. 19.—A contract at $13,537 has been awarded by the city council for improvement work to be done on Justin avenue, Tenth street, Kenneth road and Fourth street.

SHORTAGE OF RAIN CAUSE OF WARNING

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 19.—With Southern California rainfall so far this season the highest in the history of the weather bureau, possibility of a water and power shortage was seen today by Col. H. B. Hersey, local observer.

Only 1.32 inches of rain has been recorded here since July 1, 1923, whereas the average is 10.82 for the same period.

"At the present, there is no immediate prospect of rain," Col. Hersey said. "I think it advisable that farmers not plant crops which will depend upon rainfall to assure their growth. There is none in sight now, although March may remedy the situation somewhat."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—President Coolidge today announced a policy of silence regarding the oil leasing scandal, effective at once.

It was stated on his behalf that the oil leasing cases would not in future be discussed at the White House conferences with newspapermen on Tuesday and Friday.

The cases are now in the hands of counsel for presentation to the courts and for that reason the president believes, it was stated, that he must refrain from talking about them.

This was notice to the correspondents not to submit any more questions about the case.

Secure New Evidence
The committee has been given new evidence but it cannot be disclosed unless certain witnesses will agree to testify, a committee member said.

Negotiations are under way to bring this about.

Later Atlee Pomerene and Owen J. Roberts, special counsel, were called in and a decision was reached to leave the question of immunity to them. The point was brought up that the committee itself really had no power to grant anyone immunity and only the private word of the attorneys could be given.

S. D. Bowers, New York, of the law firm of Lughten, Girard, Bowers and Halpin, personal attorney for H. H. Benkart, appeared before the committee in executive session today. Later he made this statement:

"We were subpoenaed to produce records of certain stock transactions and these records were produced."

Bring In Books
"We have no knowledge or information that these records in any way affect anyone connected with them or under investigation."

Benkart and H. A. Cook, office manager for the Benkart brokerage offices and Lewis H. Bond, investigator for the federal trade commission, were also before the committee.

Senator Lenroot, chairman of the committee, said no effort had been made this afternoon to make any careful scrutiny of the books. Accountants employed by the committee will do that in New York and report back to the committee.

The only statement Lenroot would make about the executive session of the committee was: "We have consulted officials from the Benkart and company stock brokerage firm of New York. They have produced certain books and expressed entire willingness to produce all that we desire. The records, however, are somewhat voluminous so we have appointed accountants to examine them."

Summon Millionaire
Harry Payne Whitney, millionaire sportsman of New York, and Elmer E. Smathers, broker, who were also subpoenaed, failed to appear. Smathers was said to be in Europe. All that Lenroot would say about Whitney was that "we have a subpoena out for him."

The session adjourned subject to the call of the chairman and none of the members would indicate whether there would be any need for a call before the regular meeting of the committee scheduled for next Monday.

Resignation of Theodore Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy, was demanded in the senate by Senator Harrison, Mississippi, during a bitter partisan debate on the oil scandals.

"Roosevelt is just as guilty as Secretary Denby," declared Harrison. "Yet he aspires to be governor."

Special Counsel Contends Essential Witnesses Not Available

IMMUNITY SEEN AS NECESSARY ACTION

Democratic Solon Makes Bitter Attack on Roosevelt In Speech

(By United Press Leased Wire)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Lack of witnesses essential to a criminal prosecution threatened today to prevent such prosecution in connection with the oil leasing scandal.

Atlee Pomerene and Owen J. Roberts, President Coolidge's special counsel, told the Teapot Dome committee there was not one witness who could be depended on to prove violation of the criminal laws against anybody involved in the leasing scandal.

Committee members said they agreed with the counsel. The counsel probably will confine efforts therefore to a suit in equity, designed to cancel the Teapot Dome and California leases and restore the reserves to the government.

Overture of immunity have been made by the senate Teapot Dome committee. It was disclosed, to induce reluctant witnesses to tell the facts about reported corruption of government officials in connection with the oil scandal.

Salesman Loses In $800 Action

Judgment for the defendant had been entered today in the case of C. L. Tallafiero against D. B. McAlvey, trial of which was concluded late yesterday before Superior Judge Z. B. West.

Tallafiero sued for $800, claiming that sum was due him as a commission for making a sale of stock owned by McAlvey in the Oil Tool Manufacturing company at Anaheim. The court denied the claim and awarded the defendant's costs of action.

Theft Case To Be Probed Tomorrow

Trial of Francisco Valencia on a burglary charge will be held, as scheduled, tomorrow in Superior Judge R. Y. Williams' court. It was definitely announced here today by the district attorney's office.

Valencia is accused of entering the residence of R. R. St. John at Huntington Beach, January 18.

Packed Oranges Taken in Grove

H. S. Greenwald today notified the police that someone has been stealing boxes of oranges from his grove at First and Bristol streets. He had no definite clue, he said.

Chance of Living Is Conceded Boy

Showing improved condition today at the county hospital, Sam Gordon, 20, Los Angeles newsboy, was conceded a good chance to recover from injuries received in an automobile wreck early yesterday.

Gordon sustained a skull fracture when the car in which he was riding with two other newsboys went into the ditch west of Garden Grove. The three boys fell asleep, it was said, while traveling homeward from a trip to Tia Juana.

Nab Youth Scaling Wall; Is Released

Police late last night found a young man who had climbed the alley wall into the upper part of the new Walter Moore building, it was reported today. After a severe reprimand the youth was released. He claimed he was hunting a place to sleep, police said.

EXPECT THROG AT PATRIOTIC SERVICE

A large attendance is anticipated at the high school auditorium tonight at 8 o'clock, when local patriotic organizations will cooperate in Memorial services to former Presidents George Washington, Abraham Lincoln, William McKinley and Woodrow Wilson, according to Frank Rowe, a member of the committee in charge of the exercises.

Rowe stated that no admission fee would be charged and said that the public is cordially invited.

The Rev. William E. Roberts, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will deliver the principal address. S. H. Finley will preside. The program will include singing by the audience, orchestra selections, vocal solos by Mrs. McCullery and Miss Donnelly, and instrumental duet by the Misses Donnelly.

CITRUS SHOW HOST TO ORANGE COUNTY

Santa Ana and Orange county residents, joining their Los Angeles county neighbors, had their day at the fourteenth annual orange show at San Bernardino today.

With perfect weather favoring the big citrus exposition, Manager R. H. Mack was confident all attendance records will be shattered by the 1924 show.

Early today long lines of automobiles bearing Santa Ana, Fullerton, Orange, Anaheim, Los Angeles, Long Beach, Pomona and Riverside residents began streaming into San Bernardino, officials declared, and the big tents were comfortably filled with visitors soon after the turnstiles were thrown open to admit the public.

According to advices received here, 3,000 growers and packing house executives were in attendance when the annual citrus institute, held in connection with the exposition, opened at 9:30 a. m.

The orange show will remain open next Sunday.

H. E. Wahlberg, Orange county farm advisor, A. A. Brock, county horticultural commissioner, and many other citrus growers and packing house executives were in attendance at the institute. Carlyl Thorpe, general manager of the California Walnut Growers' association, was scheduled to discuss present-day fruit marketing problems at the afternoon session. Addresses were also scheduled for Mutual Orange Distributors' executives and Paul S. Armstrong, advertising manager of the California Fruit Growers' exchange.

Leaves Wife $10 And Disappears; She Wins Divorce

"Here's $10. Maybe you'll need it to buy some meat before I come back."

Mrs. Melinda Ward of Tustin, today told Superior Judge F. C. Drumm that this remark was made to her by her husband, E. A. Ward, as he started one day to his ranch.

That was January 19, 1918. The husband hasn't come back yet, Mrs. Ward said today in court, where her suit for divorce was heard.

The decree was granted on grounds of desertion.

Mrs. Ward testified that the couple had been married less than a year when the desertion took place. She was represented in court today by Attorney A. E. Koepsel of Orange.

Girl Felled By Cyclist Pained As Dress Ruined

Louise Brackett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brackett, 1619 West Fourth street, was knocked down and slightly injured by a motorcycle ridden by John Klubnikin, 18, of Los Angeles, at Fourth and Main streets yesterday afternoon, according to today's accident report at police headquarters.

En Bishop, Miss Brackett's chum, also was struck by the machine, but was not injured. Miss Brackett, 14-year-old school girl, was cut about the neck and her body was bruised, but the greatest injury, according to her father, was to her feelings when she discovered her dress, that she had purchased from her own earnings, was ruined.

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work.

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, gripping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without gripping, pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. P. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath. Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 15c and 50c.

THE DEVIL'S OWN GRASS

—is Bermuda. In fact, in certain parts of the South, it is known exclusively as "Devil Grass." Here, in Southern California, it is a constant bother and expense in the cultivation of field crops and is especially undesirable in lawns. Bermuda, to grow, must have warmth and for that reason lies dormant during the colder winter months in this locality. In March it again starts growing; and continues until early winter.

To keep Bermuda from entirely taking possession of your lawn it should be thoroughly raked and cross-raked each winter. This will hold the Bermuda growth in check. Then a liberal seeding of white clover and blue grass should be made and kept well fertilized and watered. It is your only salvation if you really want a presentable lawn. The sooner this is done—the better. If you wait until the warm days of April and May, the blue grass and white clover have to compete, as young plants, with the already rooted Bermuda and you will not get as nice and healthy a stand.

We have some excellent Blue Grass seed as well as some high test White Clover. Let us figure your needs now. For fertilizers, we can give you a high grade, pulverized Sheep Manure in sacks—or dried blood—testing 13% Nitrogen.

For the purpose of working out final plans for acceptance of the new Y. M. C. A. building, the executive committee of the local Y. M. C. A. organization will meet at Ketter's cafe here Thursday noon, according to Chairman S. H. Finley today.

The chairman had requested a full attendance of this committee as many important questions are scheduled to come up for general discussion.

Harry W. Lewis and other Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. workers today completed tentative arrangements for attending the state Y. M. C. A. convention to be held in Modesto Friday. Lewis, accompanied by his son, Ralph, and five others, will motor to Modesto Thursday.

With Santa Ana, Long Beach and Garden Grove Chambers of Commerce actively identified with the movement, plans today were being made by Farm Advisor H. E. Wahlberg to procure all available data in connection with a proposal to reduce the tariff on foreign-grown pimientos.

At a meeting held yesterday at Garden Grove, Wahlberg and Chamber committee members agreed to work out various phases of the question and meet again here March 3. California representatives in Congress will be asked to aid this movement.

W. M. Cory, assistant farm advisor, will be one of the chief speakers at a meeting of the Villa Park farm center, scheduled for tonight. Prizes will be awarded to boys and girls who have been working for first division honors in the Yorba Linda poultry clubs established by the farm bureau and the agricultural extension service.

Fortified with facts and figures collected by fair associations in all sections of the United States, William J. Norton, agricultural extension expert of the University of California, will hold conferences here Thursday and Friday with A. M. Stanley, manager of the Orange county farm bureau, in connection with tentative plans for the 1924 Orange county fair.

Norton has visited virtually every fair held in the west during the past few years, Stanley declared, and will be able to give the bureau valuable information.

Following a meeting of the citrus committee of the Orange county farm bureau today, plans were under way for future development of a general market for "off-size" Valencia oranges, according to Manager A. M. Stanley. Stanley said it is possible a pool will be formed to take care of the oranges.

Orange county, according to Dr. J. M. Foster, Denver, a winter guest at St. Ann's Inn here, offers exceptional advantages to those seeking rest, after strenuous days spent in business activities.

Dr. Foster declared Santa Ana is one of the most progressive cities he has visited in California.

Catherine A. Joe and Guy E. Skidmore have applied to the railroad commission for permission to transfer to Skidmore Brothers, a corporation, the Laguna Heights Water system, and the latter corporation has applied for a certificate to operate the system as a public utility, according to word received here today.

News Briefs

With six expert tile-workers engaged in finishing the walls, indications today were that the 50,000 gallon swimming tank in the basement of the Y. M. C. A. building here will be finished and ready for tests within the next two weeks, according to R. R. Russek, physical director, today. This pool, Rus-sek said, will compare favorably with the finest pools in the Southland.

Two building permits were issued here today up to noon for a total of $8500. The Brown-French-
Lloyd syndicate of 1204 South
Main street announced the proposed construction of two four-room apartments and a garage, all situate at 1209-11 South Sycamore street, at a cost of $5500.

Mrs. M. McWhinney will take possession when the buildings are completed. Henry Donan of 1133
West Pine street today obtained a permit to construct a four-room apartment above a garage at 913
West Myrtle street, at a cost of $3000.

Indicative of the lively interest created in the project, W. M. Cory, assistant farm advisor, announced today that more than a dozen horsemen had made inquiries concerning the formation of a riding club, scheduled for the Irvine ranch next Saturday afternoon.

The club will be open to men and women. Tentative plans for organization will be discussed at Saturday's meeting. Those desiring to attend this meeting were advised to communicate with Cory at the farm bureau.

For the purpose of working out final plans for acceptance of the new Y. M. C. A. building, the executive committee of the local Y.

BROKER FACING
FRAUD CHARGE
HERE AGAIN

Intimation that fraud was practiced upon the courts by M. O.
Hensley, Anaheim real estate man, who secured dismissal some months ago of a charge that he acted as realty broker without a state license, accompanied the re-filing today of the same charge against him.

At the time the first charge was dismissed last fall, the case was dropped on the showing that Hensley had received no commission or compensation for his alleged part in negotiating the real estate transaction upon which the charge was based.

In refiling the same charge, based upon the same transaction, the authorities declared that Hensley had merely waited until after the first prosecution had been dropped before collecting his commission.

Testimony Clears Man.

The complaint against Hensley was filed in connection with the sale of property near Anaheim, owned by C. S. Seymour of Long Beach, to men named Koonitz and Lewis. Hensley was asserted to have acted as agent in the deal.

Testimony offered by an escrow officer at an Anaheim bank, who stated in court that so far as he knew Hensley had not received compensation but, after learning that he was not legally entitled to a commission, had waived it, cleared
Hensley of the charge.

Case Under Observation.

It was said that the state real estate commissioner's office kept the case under observation and developed asserted evidence that Hensley had secured his commission after the complaint was dismissed. On the strength of this alleged information the present charge was filed, it was said.

That Hensley will not be able to take refuge in the legal defense designated as "once in jeopardy," which prevented a defendant from being prosecuted twice for the same offense, was the declaration made today by Chief Deputy District Attorney C. N. Mozley.

Mozley's opinion, he said, was based on the element of further developments and indications of fraud upon the court; also on the theory that the law does not apply to preliminary examinations.

END PARIS ROMANCE
IN BRIDE'S DEATH

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Feb. 19.—
Rensselaer Wood, Rochester art student, was returning here with the body of his 20-year-old wife, Katherine Gray McFarland Wood, who sailed with him as a bride two months ago for Paris, where each hoped to win fame, as a painter and Mrs. Wood as a writer.

Briefly called reports brought the news to the young man's mother, Mrs. Hiram W. Wood, 251 Westminster road, Death occurred Jan.
11 in the American hospital at Neuilly, where Mrs. Wood had been a patient since Dec. 10.

Met in Paris

The romance that led to their marriage last September began in the student quarter of Paris, Mrs.
Wood said. Mr. Wood studied painting there for two years, and met his bride there one year ago when she went to follow a literary career.

They came home last summer for the wedding, which was at the bride's home in Havana, Ill. The young wife's illness began on the voyage to France in November and was complicated by heart trouble,
Mrs. Hiram Wood said.

Will Meet Son

Mr. Wood has studied with noted artists since graduating from Amherst, Mrs. Hiram Wood will go to New York to meet her son.

The young people followed a quiet existence in Paris, Mrs.
Wood said, and were little concerned with the gaieties traditionally associated with student life in Paris, but devoted themselves seriously to realization of their ambition.

Brooklyn Leads
U. S. in Building
Contracts for Year

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—Albert E. Kleiner, superintendent of buildings for Brooklyn, said that during the year just ended Brooklyn led all other cities of the city and all other cities of the country in the amount of new building.
Permits were granted, he said, for 25,572 new buildings, that will cost approximately $269,728,875.

During the past year there were 17,309 private dwellings, 2612 apartment houses, 29 churches and 21 amusement buildings constructed. Those figures surpass all previous records of Brooklyn itself.

Controller to Pay
Traffic Inspectors

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 19.—Announcement was made today by Will H. Marsh, superintendent of the state motor vehicle department, that State Controller Ray I.
Riley has agreed to pay claims for salaries and expenses of seven state traffic inspectors-at-large, which have been held up pending determination of the validity of the act under which they are employed. Riley's agreement to pay the inspectors-at-large was taken in some quarters as an indication that he will side by the recent decision of the Third district court of appeal holding the Breed motor vehicle act constitutional, and will not appeal to the state supreme court. Salaries of about 90 traffic officers employed under the Breed act are still being held up.

Finally found health in Kellogg's Bran after suffering long with constipation

Mr. Patch writes that Kellogg's Bran "solved his problem." It has solved the problem of constipation—mild and chronic—for thousands of others. It has brought relief when all else has failed because Kellogg's Bran is ALL bran. Nothing but ALL bran can be 100 per cent effective. Read Mr. Patch's letter:

Dear Sir: I have been a constant sufferer from constipation and have wondered what was the cause of it. I have tried about all the cereals I could think of, and finally tried Kellogg's Bran. This solved my problem. I feel 100 per cent better and I owe it to your Bran. Thanking you very kindly for this great cereal, I am,

Very respectfully,
Chester C. Patch,
761 Main St., Greenwald, Mass.
For the permanent relief of constipation, eat Kellogg's Bran regularly—two tablespoons daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. It sweeps, cleans and purifies the intestines. It rids them of the dangerous poisons that lead to other diseases. It is guaranteed to bring results, or your grocer will return your money.

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumble, is delicious with milk or cream. You will like its nut-like flavor—so different from ordinary, tasteless bran. Sprinkle it over the cereals. Cook it with hot cereals. Eat it in Kellogg's Bran muffins, griddle cakes and many other wonderful recipes given on the package.

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumble, is made in Battle Creek and is served by the leading hotels and clubs everywhere. It is sold by all grocers.

PAVING CUTTING SPECIFICATION IS OUTLINED

Public utilities cutting into pavement in Santa Ana for installation or repair of their services hereafter must use the same type of pavement in replacement as was used in the original construction.

The city council here last night adopted a motion carrying this regulation. It means that instead of replacing with straight concrete, work on streets where a concrete base and asphalt surface is the type of pavement, utilities must duplicate the original pavement.

Permission was given Fred Siefert to locate an oil station on the northeast corner of First and Bristol streets. Siefert recently was given a permit for a location of a station at the corner of First and Artesia streets. He has abandoned the latter project.

Bleachers Hide Prowlers A request of Mrs. M. E. Holderman for installation of a street lamp at the corner of Myrtle and Barton streets was filed, in compliance with a former decision by the council that it will not grant more street lights until after decision is made as to formation of lighting districts to pay for the electricity. The petitioner said that the bleachers on the high school athletic field made a convenient hiding place for prowlers, and that the light would offer some protection to the neighborhood against such persons.

B. R. Ford was awarded the contract for rebuilding the pavement, curb and sidewalk on South Main street, work made necessary to correct drainage conditions on the east side of South Main south of McFadden street. Ford's bid for the work was $4592.64.

To Cut New Paving Joseph Lowell was given permission to cut the new pavement on West Washington avenue to repair a private irrigation water line broken when the pavement was installed. The street has just been paved and has not yet been thrown open to traffic. Location of the pipe line under the street was not known to the city engineer or the contractors, it was intimated.

Resolutions were adopted accepting plans and specifications and declaring the intention of the city council to improve West Seventeenth street by paving a twenty-foot strip in the center, from Ross street west to the city limits. No provision is made for a main sewer line west of Bristol street.

By resolution it was declared the sense of the board that the city should not, at its own expense, provide water lines for the North Broadway park subdivision. Sidewalks and curbs were ordered in on both sides of Bishop street, between Orange and Cypress avenues.

Overruling a protest by the Southern Pacific railroad company to proposed paving of Lacy street, First to Fourth streets, a resolution was adopted ordering the improvement work to proceed. A resolution was adopted approving plans and specifications for paving Highland avenue from Flower to Bristol streets.

POLY MEETINGS FOR LAST OF WEEK TOLD

"Radio telephotography" will be the subject of a talk to be given to the high school engineering club, tomorrow at 7:30 p. m., by George Sakman. One of the student members.

Patriotic talks by students and community singing of patriotic songs will occupy the high school assembly period Thursday at 9:45 a. m. Friday will be a holiday and Washington's birthday will be remembered in the assembly on the preceding day. Miss Dorothy Clarkson will make the chief talk in the assembly, while other talks will be made by students from the public speaking classes.

Junior college students will hold a patriotic assembly in the music room at the high school Thursday at 9:45 a. m.

The high school annual, The Ariel, was a topic of conversation in the halls at the high school today, as the ticket sale had opened for the 1924 annual, which will be published early in the spring. Miss Aural Bauer, is editor-in-chief.

Council Taboos Paving If Royalty Is Paid

Patented street paving processes on which royalties are paid will be taboo with the Santa Ana city council. A motion passed last night declared it to be the sense of the city governing body that consideration will not be given to petitions, for paving with materials developed under royalty-paying patents.

Street Commissioner Nat Neff informed the board that representatives of such types of work are now in the city and that in all probability attempts would be made to secure petitions for improvement of streets under the patented process.

Down-Spouts Are Ordered Severed From Sewer Line

Under direction of the city council, H. O. Crowe, city plumbing inspector, today was engaged in making a survey of business houses for detection of down-spouts from buildings connected with the sewer lines.

The inspector is under instruction to direct owners to cut out such connections wherever they are found.

It is the opinion of members of the council that a number of such connections exist, and that in rainy season rain water from buildings unnecessarily increases the burden on the sewers.

NOISE ELIMINATED IN RESPECT TO SICK

Further asserted evidence that the Southern Counties Gas company is not a "souless" corporation was given today when J. C. Hayden, local district manager, changed a scheduled plan for operating a compressed air drill in breaking pavement on South Birch street for replacement on mains.

The change was made to avoid disturbance of five persons on South Birch street who are suffering with typhoid fever, and was done at the request of residents on the street.

Hayden advised Mayor J. W. Tubbs that the company would remain off the street until such time as the council gave it instruction to proceed with the work under way there. The council approved the move.

Calling attention to a recent decision of the appellate court, declaring illegal any regulation that attempts to keep any kind of traffic off any street, the mayor said that the council could do nothing to prevent trucks traveling over the streets where sickness may exist, except to make an appeal to truck owners.

Persons on North Broadway had complained to the council of truck noises.

BUENA PARK GIRL PASSES SUDDENLY

BUENA PARK, Feb. 19.—Miss Vera Teeter died yesterday morning. She had never been very strong. Because of her health she did not enter school this fall but visited an aunt in the northern part of the state. She returned home at Christmas apparently much improved. She took sick about two weeks ago with, the doctor said, the flu, but it turned out to be leakage of the heart.

Miss Teeter is the thirteen year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Teeter and the niece of Mrs. Ben Calloway and L. S. Bonham.

Penney Store Men Visit S. A. Plant

U. F. Gettle of Bakersfield, district representative of the J. C. Penney company, and A. M. Louvorn, manager of the Penney store at Ventura, were in Santa Ana yesterday conferring with J. C. Lansdowne, who will direct the local J. C. Penney store soon to be opened on East Fourth street.

The company is installing a carload of hardwood fixtures, and a modern store front which will be a credit to Santa Ana's business district is almost completed.

"We are to be ready for our opening about March 1," said Manager Lansdowne today, "and we intend to dedicate the store and its entire force to the service of Santa Anans. Our organization is rapidly approaching the establishment of its five hundredth department store in the United States."

Prisoner Accused By Step-daughter

Cruz Martinez, Anaheim, was held in the county jail here today following his arrest on a charge of committing a criminal attack upon his step-daughter.

The girl, 17 years old, was said to have accused him. Her mother, however, authorities stated, first corroborated the girl's accusations and then denied them.

With the arrest of Martinez, it was also intimated that others, not yet named, may be involved in the charge.

COST OF LIGHTING STREETS IS CRUX

The Santa Ana city council today had acquired an increase in its "peck" of trouble.

In the language of Councilman George McPhee, the members this week will give serious consideration to taxation plans to determine which will bankrupt the city the quickest.

The weighty subject concerns adoption of a method for paying for street lighting. The council some months ago gave assurance that provision for paying the costs of maintaining of ornamental lighting systems and the regular street lights would be provided by creation of one or more lighting districts embracing the entire city.

Two Plans Presented. At the meeting of the city solons last night City Attorney Z. B. West Jr. presented two plans—one a ten or fifteen year bond plan, under a district, and the other the direct tax assessment district plan.

As briefly outlined by the attorney, both have their drawbacks and both have their advantages, the latter predominating more in the second plan than on the first. The councilmen proved more or less effective "shock absorbers"—they rebounded rather mildly from the information added by the attorney that in event the assessment district method is adopted a new district would have to be created every time an ornamental lighting system is added to the city or one or more lights are added to the existing system of street lighting.

Suggests Bonds. Asserting that detail work would be necessitated by the assessment district plan, the city attorney declared his belief that levying and collection of taxes would prove burdensome, as every piece of property in the city would have to be included in the assessment map and the proportionate share of the taxes each would have to bear would have to be computed.

Under the bond plan, the attorney said, bonds could be given a life of five, ten or fifteen years, as might be determined best, and the amount established as collectable from each piece of property could not be increased during the life of the bonds. This, in effect, would prevent further increase in the general lighting system, it was said.

STORE ACCEPTS ASHES IN SALE OF WARES

A treasured possession of Mrs. Addie L. Blakey of Westminster is an exact reproduction of the original Ulster County Gazette as printed in 1800. It was treasured today. This copy came into the possession of Mrs. Blakey shortly after the Yorktown Centennial in 1876, at which reproductions of the original were distributed as souvenirs.

The periodical is doubly interesting in that it shows the tremendous advance made in the field of journalism since that early period. Advertisements appearing in the tiny newspaper are all limited to one column in width and none of them contains more than a handful of type. The phrasing of the advertisements is rather quaint, though extremely courteous.

For instance, one merchant politely "returns his cordial thanks to his friends and the public, and respectfully informs them that he is continuing in the merchandise business." He humorously adds that "produce will be taken in exchange."

Another Ulster county merchant of 1800, in announcing his new "assortment of goods," states that "ashes will be taken in said store."

Another advertisement in the Gazette, which would bring forth a blush of shame in this day, calmly announces the sale of a "stout, healthy, active Negro wench," along with other chattel of that time.

Mrs. Blakey has a number of other souvenirs of historical importance in her collection, among which is a piece of stone, said to be from the fireplace of the house in which Pocahontas was born. The souvenir she prizes most, however, is the tiny Ulster County Gazette, printed on faded brown paper.

Drapery & Shade Shop in New Home

Josephine S. B. Reed and Peter M. Bonner, who have been operating the Drapery and Shade Shop at 309 East Chestnut avenue since last March have moved to their new business home at 120 North Sycamore street, in the new Grand Central building, it was announced today.

Drapery materials, window shades and linoleums are handled. Draperies and shades are manufactured and hung to special order, it was stated. The firm has recently added the manufacture of specially designed and hand made lamp shades.

Mrs. Reed has charge of the drapery department, designing, etc. Bonner specializes on shades and linoleums.

THOUSANDS HAVE 'TOBACCO STOMACH'

The excessive use of tobacco is one of the most common causes of indigestion and stomach inflammation. Whether you smoke or chew makes little difference. The highly irritating juice of the weed is swallowed with the saliva, often setting up an acute inflammation of the stomach which may end in gastritis or chronic stomach inflammation.

"Tobacco stomach" produces a number of distressing symptoms—first loss of appetite, then an occasional attack of indigestion. Perhaps your food sours at times and you notice a peculiar burning in the stomach. These attacks occur with greater frequency as time goes on. Finally, if neglected, the condition becomes chronic, resulting in loss of flesh and general poor health.

Smith Bros.' M. A. C. Stomach Tonic has proven wonderfully successful in all forms of digestive trouble. It is sold on a positive guarantee of money back if the first bottle fails to relieve stomach inflammation or dyspepsia. The very first dose should convince. Nothing on earth like it. You can get a large bottle for $1.25. C. S. Kelley Drug Store will supply you. (Mail orders accepted.)

Jackie Coogan, midget star of the films, scores his greatest triumph of his career in "Long Live the King," the current screen attraction at the Walker theater. The Roberts trio, consisting of three brilliant little performers, is a pleasing vaudeville number on the Walker program.

WIVES ADVISED IN NEW WEST END PHOTOPLAY.

"Wives! Be unusual!" Such advice is offered women of the world by no less a personage than William de Mille, who sends this startling message through his latest production, "Don't Call It Love," now showing at the West End theater.

"Wives! Be unusual!" To the average spirited American man, nothing is more tiring than monotony, according to the theme of "Don't Call It Love." It is therefore necessary that a woman, if she would continue to hold the interest of her husband after marriage, be different.

"I do not believe this picture intends to convey that a woman, to be different, must be inconsistent," says Nita Naldi, a featured member of the cast. "She should be consistent in her attentions to her husband—and her attentions should be only for her husband. She should use her personality in varying ways. She should dress differently; that is, instead of having all her house dresses pink or blue, she should have variety in color and style."

"LONG LIVE THE KING" IS JACKIE'S BEST FILM

Undoubtedly the greatest picture in which Jackie Coogan has been permitted to use his remarkable genius is "Long Live the King," now the feature at the Walker theater. Last night its premier in this city was attended by a great and appreciative audience which through the evening continued to give ample evidence of the tremendous popularity which Jackie now has at his command. In fairness to him it is such beautiful and impressive productions as "Long Live the King" that enhance his popularity and make him more beloved.

The story of "Long Live the King" is a familiar one to readers of American books. It is a screen version of the famous novel of the same name written several years ago by Mary Roberts Rinehart and which attained a tremendous sale. It hinges around the romantic adventures of the little Crown Prince of Lavonia—a country threatened at every turn by revolution and Mabel Forrest and Bryant Washburn in a scene from "Mine to Keep," picture closing at the Yost theater tonight.

MONTE BLUE HEADS CAST OF "LUCRETIA LOMBARD"

In casting the characters for "Lucretia Lombard" now showing at the Temple, it is easy to understand why Producer Harry Rapf and Director Jack Conway chose Monte Blue to play the part of Stephen Winship, the young district attorney.

Blue is the serious minded, ambitious district attorney, intent on his work and passably happy until he meets Lucretia Lombard and falls in love with her.

But he is already married—to a girl he does not love. He fights with himself, his honor and integrity, which have always been a part of him. When the situation becomes unbearable for, something happens; fate with grim intent takes a hand and solves the human riddle.

Blue is co-starred with Irene Rich as Lucretia Lombard. Marc McDermott, John Roche, Alec B. Francis, Lucy Beaumont, Otto Hoffman and Norma Shearer complete the cast.

"PIED PIPER MALONE" AT YOST TOMORROW

While in Georgetown, S. Meighan and other members of the company made contributions, the balance coming from the townfolk, who paid to see the performance. The funds were used for milk and clothing for the poor children of the community.

THINNING OF FRUIT URGED ON GROWERS AT MEETING

Disclosures by J. D. Spennetta, secretary of the Red Fox Orchards association, Orange, that pooling of oranges by sizes had proven successful in the season just closed, and recommendation by C. W. Post, secretary of the McPherson Heights Citrus Association, that growers give more attention to thinning trees and thinning fruit, featured annual meetings of the associations held today.

The Red Fox association showed an average return on Valencia's of o. b. Orange of $3.10 per box, which was declared to have been a better average than made by other associations under the two and three pool system.

"Your returns show the wisdom of this pooling," said Spennetta, in his report to the growers. "It is undoubtedly the most equitable that could be made. The returns would indicate that it is more necessary to pool sizes than grades, if you desire to be as near equitable as possible. Our fruit graded 53 per cent Sunkist, 41 per cent Red Ball and 1 per cent standards."

Size Classification urged Adoption of classification by sizes rather than by the present methods of grades was recommended to all associations by L. D. Palmer, manager of the Orange County Fruit exchange, in his annual report recently submitted.

It was declared that size classification would induce better attention to groves, with better returns to growers who devote themselves to development of larger fruit.

With 150 growers members, representing 1100 acres of lemons, the Red Fox association shipped six cars of navels, one-half car of sweets, 168 cars of Valencia's and 46 cars of lemons, or a total of 211 cars, the secretary's report disclosed. Gross receipts were $267,480.54, the distribution to growers being $195,633.54. For lemons the association received an average price of $4.896 for all fruit sold.

It was announced that this association has decided to discontinue the handling of lemons and recommendation has been made that such growers identify themselves with the Central Lemon Growers association of Villa Park. Dinner was served at the packing house at noon.

The McPherson Heights Citrus association shipped 325 carloads of oranges from the 950 acres owned by the 100 grower-members.

Distribution to the growers was $269,427.02, or $2.11 per packed box, according to the report of Secretary Post. In addition, checks were passed out at the annual meeting today on the basis of 8 1/2 cents per box, the payment being a refund.

"Compared with former years, the net returns this year were low," said Post, in discussing the past year activities of the association. "Increased percentage of small sizes, due to bad infection of black scale and other conditions, was responsible for the small sizes."

Urges Fruit Thinned Stating that with the exception of 1922 the general run of fruit this year was smaller than in any of the twelve years he had been manager of the association, Post said that it was his judgment that growers should study soil conditions more closely and give greater consideration to irrigation of orchards.

"Growers should give attention to getting moisture deep in the soil, and particularly in the fall prior to the hot winds," said Post. Continuing his discussion for improvement of the size and quality of the fruit, Post said:

"We have reached the time, owing to the age of the trees in some of our groves, when trees should either be pruned or fruit thinned. Either of these courses will result in large fruit."

It was declared that this is the first instance in Orange county in which an association manager has made such a recommendation.

ORANGE PLAZA TO BE GIVEN LIGHTS

The Merchants and Manufacturers association of Orange held their regular meeting last night in the Masonic hall, with the Mayor and city council present, to discuss the better lighting of the plaza. J. Manson, chief illuminating engineer of the Southern California Edison company of Los Angeles, was present and gave a full description of the lighting, together with the advantages of various systems. It is proposed to place powerful lights at each intersection of the plaza, throwing out light both to the right and left, with a straight-ahead light of twenty degrees that will not dazzle the eyes of drivers of vehicles.

Mr. Desiring of Santa Ana was also present, and it was through George Gilmore, Southern California Edison representative of Orange, that Mr. Manson was here.

Mayor Gunther made a talk on the progress and financial condition of Orange and was followed by interesting talks by the Orange councilmen and city attorney.

Mr. Manson will confer with a councilman and city attorney, and also a committee of the Merchants and Manufacturers association, after which definite action will be taken on a better lighting system for the plaza.

There were short addresses from different members of the Merchants and Manufacturers association, after which a sumptuous banquet was served and a general good time was enjoyed by all.

Farm Center At Y.L. Meets Tonight

YORBA LINDA, Feb. 19.—Stereo-Opticon slides showing how agriculture is carried on in Europe will be shown in connection with a lecture on that subject at the regular meeting of the Yorba Linda farm center tonight, it was announced today by J. J. Carter, secretary. Prizes won in the recent poultry contest will be awarded. The farm bureau director's report will be read.

Santa Ana Gardens advance $50 Monday.

The J. C. Penney Co. Serves More Than a Million Homes

Like or Similar to the One Pictured Above

The picture above is of "a family at home on an evening." It is a familiar scene—a happy, contented household. There is Grandmother, devoted, as usual, to her Bible; dear, sweet, untiring Mother, whose "work is never done;" Father, interrupted in the reading of his favorite newspaper by his frolicsome Daughter; Little Sister and her blocks and toys, with her Brother admiringly looking on, while at Father's slipped feet is the Dog, concerned in the playful Kitten, who is getting into mischief with Mother's knitting yarn.

The supper dishes have been washed and put away. The clock (it evidently was Grandfather's) tells us it is just past seven, the evening lamp is lit, there is an inviting dish of apples and grapes on the table, and, to all appearances, the family will be just as pleased if their enjoyment of each other is not "jarred" by callers. It is a picture of what may be safely described as "an average American home"—that type of home and household of which the J. C. Penney Company serves more than a million. It is the kind of home, too, that is the life and the sinew of every community in the 33 States in which the 475 Department Stores of this Company are located. It is these homes and the thrift practiced in them, upon which depends the stability of the Nation.

It is these typically American homes that the J. C. Penney Company strives to serve with the utmost help, with the daily personal and household requirements. That notable success has attended the effort, is shown by the remarkable growth of the Company from one small Store in 1902, conducted by Mr. Penney and doing a business of less than $29,000, to 475 Department Stores, 21 years later, employing considerably more than four thousand men and women and, in 1923, likely to do a business of approximately $65,000,000.

We Decided to Locate One of Our New Stores Here

only after a very careful investigation of the existing general interests and conditions and the promise of future growth and added enterprises.

It has been said that a great compliment is paid to any community which is decided upon for a new J. C. Penney Company Store because of the assurance of future growth we insist upon. Be that as it may, in deciding to open a Store here it was determined that it should be one that every man, woman and child would be proud of.

In principle, in policy, in operation, in service rendered, in quality of goods provided and in the money savings afforded, our new Store here will—it must—balance with those ideals which have been directly responsible for the unusual success of our long-tested idea of collective buying and selling. Nothing will be left undone to win and merit your confidence.

The many advantages you and your neighbors are to experience in buying from us at our new Store here will, we are sure, win your warmest and most hearty approval and appreciation.

Our All-New Stocks Will Include

Dry Goods, Wearing Apparel, Clothing, Furnishings, Shoes, Notions, Etc.—for the Whole Family—

Everything at Lowest Consistent Prices!

WALL ST. JOURNAL ANALYSIS

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—The day's trading in the stock market was characterized by a firmer tendency in the general list. Selling pressure was not heavy and on the rallies some buying appeared for short accounts. Stocks like Baldwin, Case Steel and Pan American were disposed to advance rather easily and the absence of any real feeling was considered. Trading Moderate in S. F. POULTRY

(By United Press Leased Wire)
SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 18.—LEG-horn hens continued in fair demand while colored hens were moving slowly. Turkeys were weaker as were Belgian hens. One car of live poultry was received from the East. Approximately 17 tons of dressed poultry were received by local express. The arrival of fresh supplies of smaller oranges, because of the wide range in price between small and large, caused a moderate demand. Receipts, cars: Oranges 6; Arizona 1; California 5; Southern 1. On track 3; unbroken 6; broken oranges 1; grapefruit 2; bananas 3; broken cars 1; California 1; Southern 1. On track 1; Oregon 3; Washington 1. GRAIN PRICES GAIN ON CHICAGO MARKET

CHICAGO, Feb. 18.—Receiving good local support, grains closed higher on the board of trade today. Some wheat buying was in anticipation of brisk demand for nearby parcels in Liverpool, following settlement of the Dock Workers' strike. Later reports from the United Kingdom said the government would be forced to take a hand in trying to settle the Dockers' strike, as food stocks were low.

SANTA ANA, CALIF., TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 19, 1924

SECTION TWO

DEDICATION OF $18,000 HOME IS SALVATION ARMY LURE

High Officials of Organization on Coast Are Expected to Attend

PROGRAM IS OUTLINED

Commander Eva Booth Not Able to Attend Service Here Tomorrow

Although Commander Eva Booth will be unable to attend the opening ceremonies, Commissioner Adam Gifford of San Francisco and other high officers in the Army organization will assist local Salvation Army workers in carrying out a pretentious dedication program when the $18,000 home service building is thrown open tomorrow, Commandant J. C. Douglas announced today.

"The day's program will start at noon," said Commandant Douglas, "when the Santa Ana Kiwanis club will be host to Commissioner Gifford and other Salvation Army officers at St. Ann's Inn. Realtors and members of the Rotary and Lions clubs have also been invited to the noon luncheon to be given by the Kiwanis club.

High Officers Coming
"We had been expecting every endeavor to bring Commander Eva Booth here on this occasion, but her health is not the best and she will be busy with dedicatory programs and addresses in Los Angeles. She felt she would be unable to undergo the strain incident to another program here.

"We will have, however, virtually all the high officers in the Pacific coast division. The list includes Brigadier C. R. Boyd, Colonel J. W. B. Turner, Ensign A. Kranz, Colonel Thomas Scott and others.

Musical features at the noon luncheon will include solos by Captain Grace Adams of Los Angeles and Mrs. E. Webb of Long Beach. Chairman J. G. Mitchell will have charge of the noon program.

Program Is Told
"At 2 p. m., flag-raising ceremonies will be held at the home service building. Edwin T. McFadden, commander of Santa Ana post No. 121, American Legion, will direct the ceremonies in connection with the American flag. The Salvation Army flag will be raised by Colonel J. W. B. Turner. Keys of the new building will be delivered by the contractor to Brigadier Boyd at 2:30 p. m.

"All our friends will be welcome at the housewarming, between 2:30 and 5 p. m. Light refreshments will be served.
"In the evening Chairman J. G. Mitchell will preside at dedicatory services, scheduled for 7:45 p. m. "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name," the opening song, will be followed by an invocation by the Rev. W. L. H. Benton, rector of

City Industrial Boost Firm Is Incorporated

Anaheim's Community Industrial corporation today had filed a copy of its articles of incorporation with the county clerk, revealing the name of seven Anaheim business men as directors of the organization, which is shown to have $200,000 capital stock.

The seven directors, who will launch the foundation work of establishing an industrial district for the attraction of factories to Anaheim are:

Harry D. Riley, John Ruether, H. H. Benjamin, A. B. McCord, F. A. Yungbluth, Joseph Fiscus and J. E. Schumacher.

Legion Men Ask Talbert Put On Armistice Body

Request for the appointment of T. B. Talbert, its chairman, as a member of the Armistice day committee for the county celebration, next November 11, at Huntington Beach, was contained today in a communication head "before the board of supervisors.

The communication came from Joseph Rodman post, American Legion, of Huntington Beach, which post has charge of arrangements for the Armistice day program.

Talbert, who is the representative of that district on the board of supervisors, would be appointed to act on the committee with representatives of various other organizations in the county, the communication stated.

Another Test of Speed Trap Gets Under Way Here

Another test of the speed trap was under way in the local courts today following the trial of M. B. Asher, Los Angeles motorist, who was found guilty of speeding and was sentenced by Justice J. B. Cox to a term of five days in the county jail.

Asher filed notice of appeal and posted $200 cash bail pending outcome of the trial. He was defended at the trial by Attorney L. C. Spiess Jr., member of the legal staff representing the Auto Club of Southern California. Deputy District Attorney D. G. Wetlin conducted the prosecution.

Witnesses appearing against Asher were Motorcycle Officers Frank Stewart and Vernon Myers, who testified that they timed Asher through a speed trap at a rate of speed of forty-five miles per hour.

Beach Man Sues To Quiet Title

Title to two lots at Huntington Beach was involved today in an action filed in the superior court here by Fred P. Cook against J. M. Johnson and others, who are said to have some claim against the property.

Cook's action was filed through Attorney E. S. James of Pasadena.

$5,000,000 IN STOCK, LOCAL FIRM'S AIM

S. A. Organization, Termed By Organ As Nation's Best, Calls Vote

Stockholders of the Home Mutual Building and Loan association were gathering this afternoon at the local office, 115 West Fourth street, for the purpose of voting on a proposal to increase the capital stock of the corporation from $2,000,000 to $5,000,000, an action assured, according to Secretary O. M. Robbins, by the number of favorable proxy votes already received.

At the same time, interesting details of the tremendous growth of the institution, which in the past forty-five days has increased by $3,000,000 its 6 per cent investment notes, were made public by Robbins.

The organization, Robbins said, now has $817,618 in these investment notes whereas on January 1, 1910, but $49,300 was so represented. The total January 1, 1920, was $2,000,000; January 1, 1921, $450,000; January 1, 1922, $550,000; January 1, 1923, $622,000, and January 1, 1924, $754,243.

1200 Own Stock
"There is no doubt that we will reach a total of $1,000,000 in these notes before January 1, 1925," Robbins declared.

Approximately 1200 persons own stock in the concern and everyone of these purchased and all paid for their shares over the association's desk.

"While the Home Mutual Building and Loan association's motto always has been, 'not how large, but how good,'" Robbins said, "our development truly has been remarkable.

"Indications are our entire capital stock of $2,000,000 will be sold by March 1. To continue our operations we had to call a meeting of stockholders to vote on an increase. From $2,000,000 to $5,000,000 is a large step forward, but predict our new $3,000,000 installment will be disposed of within five years.

Record Held Envious
"A total of 3600 shares was sold last year and it didn't cost those stockholders a penny in commissions to purchase them. It now has become a thing of the past. We are now selling directly over the table and pay no commissions to agents to sell our stock. We refuse as many as ten agents a month this privilege.

"The association, since it was incorporated April 1, 1913, has made an enviable record for itself, not only in California, but also in the entire United States. H. S. Rosenthal of Cincinnati, O., publisher of The American Building Association News, official organ of the United States Building Association League, as well as many similar state groups, recently stated that the Home Mutual Building and Loan association of Santa Ana was the best in the nation."

This afternoon's vote was to provide for the capital stock of the company to consist of 25,000

JR. CHAMBER IS LAUNCHED BY YOUNG MEN

Harbor Development, New Industries Aim of S. A. Group to Organize

Santa Ana has a junior chamber of Commerce.

Announcement was made today that young men representing this district had organized yesterday afternoon, at a luncheon at Ketter's cafe, for the purpose of contributing their efforts in co-operating with the present Chamber of Commerce in carrying out its already-outlined plans for harbor development and the encouragement of industries.

All eligible men of the live-wire type, between the ages of 18 and 35 years, are invited to attend a luncheon next Monday at Ketter's "gold room" when officers will be elected and organization details will be completed, boosters stated today. The work of the Junior Chamber also will be outlined at this meeting.

The attendance of persons interested does not obligate them to join. It was explained, although the new chamber will unquestionably develop a large membership within a short time, in the opinion of those who attended yesterday's meeting.

To Boost Factories, Harbor.
L. R. Crawford, Santa Ana advertising expert, acted as temporary chairman, and Calvin Gilbert was temporary secretary at the luncheon meeting.

"Santa Ana must have more factories," stated Crawford, when he took charge of the meeting. "We must seek and get immediate action on our harbor project. The agricultural question needs our attention and we must do more for our farmers."

Crawford then explained the purpose of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

"The chief duty before us is to co-ordinate the efforts of the young men of Santa Ana for the Chamber of Commerce purposes.

"We are realizing the industrial possibilities of this city, are anxious to group together as young men to do out toward helping the senior Chamber carry out its program.

"We do not want any person or organization to misunderstand our purpose. The Junior Chamber is in no sense usurping the functions of any other organization in Santa Ana.

Support Is Pledged.
"There will be no cliques in the Junior Chamber. While it will be necessary to perfect the organization immediately insofar as the offices of president, vice president and secretary are concerned, in order to enable us to start doing things without delay, nevertheless we shall not elect our board of directors until all young men interested in the Junior Chamber have had an opportunity to join and have an equal voice in this organization with those who started the ball rolling."

Both the San Diego and Los Angeles Junior Chambers of Commerce have pledged their support to the newly-born Santa Ana organization.

Newcomers to this city offered ideas of other towns at yesterday's luncheon, to help civic enterprise here.

Every man present voiced his hearty approval and pledged solid support to the Santa Ana Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Among those who spoke were William Iverson, Dr. M. W. Duncan, Calvin Gilbert, B. E. Switzer, Z. B. West, Jr., L. R. Crawford, R. D. Flaherty, H. W. Shephard, H. L. Budlong, Stanley Clem, Don Andrews and Jack Carter.

S. A. FIRE CHIEF KEEPS FIT IN LEAP YEAR BY COOKING; ALSO BY RADIO "DAILY DOZEN"

John Luxemburger, chief of Santa Ana's fire department and, as such, chief cook, etc., tells of "bedroom scenes" in central station, where, he complains, snoring disturbs blissful calm more than night alarms.

WILL CONTEST IS SETTLED AS JURY WAITS

After picking a jury that waited vainly for witnesses to testify before it, attorneys in the court contest over the estate of the late Mrs. Adeline Newman, Seal Beach, succeeded in settling the dispute out of court, it was made known today.

The case came up for hearing yesterday in Superior Judge F. C. Drumm's court. A jury was examined and sworn, after which a recess was called.

Principals and attorneys made such good use of the time during recess that when court resumed another recess was asked and granted. Meanwhile, the jury waited patiently for testimony, but was doomed to remain idle.

The recess plan was repeated until it was announced during the afternoon session that an agreement had been reached out of court. The contest, accordingly, was dismissed and the jury went home, wondering what it was all about.

Miss Julia Newman and Mrs. Adeline Dodson, daughters of the deceased, had instituted the contest to revoke their mother's will, which left her $4000 estate chiefly to Mrs. Mary Davis and Daniel Newman, another daughter and son.

Terms of the settlement were not made public.

Husband Deserted Her, Tots, Claim

William Albert Vivian today had filed suit in the superior court here, through Attorney Roger C. Dutton of Anaheim, for divorce from Dorothy Ruth Vivian.

Married at Eureka, in Humboldt county, December 5, 1908, the Vivians separated February 2, 1923. Vivian charged that his wife deserted him.

The couple have two children, a girl, 13, and a boy, 12.

$10.00 down this week saves you $50.00 on a lot at Santa Ana Gardens.

BY JACK FISHER

We have with us tonight, John Luxemburger, chief of the great fire department Santa Ana ever had.

As some Roman gent, namely Marc Antony, once aptly remarked: "Lend us your ears, as we came to Raspberry Caesar, not to praise him."

And this just fits the case of us versus John.

When we rushed over to choke him loose from a lot of important we found him doing his daily dozen on the receiving end of a high-class radio outfit. By the look of blissful joy on John's handsome face he must have been hearing some very fine squawking.

We finally convinced John that it was his duty to the public to tell them of his (dark?) past. As a little information to the ladies we wish to state that John is one of the best cooks that ever assembled a flock of hash and is still running in single harness.

Snoring Is Revealed.

"Santa Anans have every reason to be proud of their fire department," John declared, "as every man in the department is trained to the highest point of efficiency in his particular line of work."

John is willing to boast of his gang of fire fighters, but has very little to say about himself. However, we learned that John has been the chief for quite a good many years and before that, during the early days of this city.

John was one of the volunteer fire fighters who dashed to the fires wearing a red shirt and armed with a bucket.

"Life treats me pretty square," said John, "the only worries I have in the world are two of my right-hand men. They are Roy Criddle and Charlie Nelson. They both snore so loudly that no one stands a fair chance of hearing the midnight alarms. As a duet they have perfect harmony, as Charlie hits a beautiful warbling tenor while Roy seconds in his charming baritone. And Deacon Brown is a silent sleeper, but it takes a troop of cavalry to make his snap out of it."

Once Candy Maker.
John has spent most of the years of his life in Santa Ana and is very well known to all the older residents of the city. Besides serving on the fire department he has been in other lines of work in this city, among them being a candy maker.

Santa Ana is fortunate to have a man like John serving in his

PLEA MADE FOR KINDERGARTEN ENROLLMENT

Do you live near the John Muir school on East Fourth street?

And have you any little boys or girls of kindergarten age in your home?

If so, you can do much to assist in a drive which Miss Linda J. Mueller, kindergarten teacher at the John Muir school, is now conducting for the benefit of her class there.

"Our facilities will accommodate many more children than are enrolled at present," Miss Mueller stated today, in an appeal to mothers of the John Muir school district.

"In kindergarten," she continued, "the young child develops naturally, learning to adjust himself to other children and to actual school room experiences. These children form correct habits of helpfulness, kindness, punctuality and order. In relation to the primary grades the kindergarten is a period of preparation.

Teachers is that these children have more initiative, more experience, and a habit of working in conjunction with other children.

"If each mother will be responsible for interesting at least one another in her neighborhood as to the value and worth of kindergarten, and thereby show her co-operation with the school and community, we feel sure that our small family will soon be as large as we hope to have it."

KFAW FANS LIKE HAWAIIAN MUSIC

Dorothy Bell Robinson, steel guitar soloist, presented last night's program for KFAW.

Robinson was assisted by her pupils, Miss Marjorie Arnold, Edwin Jones and Van Pomeroy. Mrs. Brooks played the piano accompaniments. Joseph Pantaleone, tenor, gave two solos.

The program broadcast was made up of these numbers: Dorothy Bell Robinson; trio, "Hawaiian Love Song," Mrs. Robinson, Edwin Jones and Van Pomeroy; solo, "Oriental Chant," Mrs. Robinson; trio, "Spanish Fandango," Miss Marjorie Arnold, Van Pomeroy and Edwin Jones; solo, "Dreamy Waters," Mrs. Robinson, accompanied by Mrs. Brooks.

"Valentino's Serenade," Mrs. Robinson, Miss Arnold and Edwin Jones; Hawaiian song, "The Boat Song," Mrs. Robinson; duet, "My Wild Irish Rose," Mrs. Robinson and Miss Arnold; solo, "The End of a Perfect Day," Mrs. Robinson; duet, "Aloha Oe," Mrs. Robinson and Miss Arnold; tenor solo, (a) "Marcheta," (b) "O Sole Mio," Joseph Pantaleone, accompanied by Mrs. Robinson.

STATE SCHOOLS HEAD SEEN IN REVERSAL AS TO BIBLE CREDITS

High Court Ruling Allowing Holy Book to Be Purchased Reviewed

CASE DETAILS TOLD

King James Version Held Non-sectarian and Legal For Libraries' Use

Possibility of Will C. Wood, state superintendent of public instruction, reversing himself on his edict of a year or more ago, prohibiting the giving of public school credits for work done in Bible schools, was seen here today as one result of a recent supreme court decision permitting a high school board of trustees to purchase copies of the King James version of the Bible for the school library.

Among the Santa Anans who held the view that the decision would result favorably to the champions of the plan that Bible study credits be given, was Attorney S. M. Davis, who made public a communication he received from a Fresno attorney in response to a request for details of the case on which the supreme court ruling was given.

Sought to Buy Bibles
"The case," Attorney Davis explained, "arose when the board of trustees of the Selma union high school district passed a resolution authorizing the purchase of twelve copies of the King James version of the Bible for the school library."

"The plaintiff, a man named Everett, sought an injunction to prevent the high school district from taking such action, maintaining that the constitution and laws of the state prohibited the school authorities from making the Bible a part of the public school library."

"The decision in this case was resolved into this: 'Is the King James version of the Bible a sectarian book?'"

Trial Court Upheld
"The trial court held that this version of the Bible was neither a sectarian nor a denominational book and permitted the school to purchase the books."

An appeal was taken to the appellate district and that court reversed the trial court and held that the Bible is a sectarian book and refused to allow the books to be purchased. The case was then taken to the supreme court of the state and a decision was rendered January 24 last. It was signed by all of the judges of the supreme court, and covers the ground quite fully.

"The decision upholds the decision of the trial court which decided that the King James version of the Bible is non-sectarian and, therefore, is not barred from the public school libraries by reason thereof, under the provisions of certain sections of the political code."

The Fresno attorney wrote to Attorney Davis:

"It was somewhat of a surprise that the decision was signed by the entire court, as two members of our court are Catholics, but the report shows that it was signed by all of them."

Davis continued:

Decision of Scope
"Under the decision any book in the school library may be used by the teacher for instruction in the public school or may be read daily for such instructive purposes. In concluding the decision, the court said:

"We are not required in this case to decide nor are we to be understood as deciding the question of whether or not the use of the Bible for class instruction amounts to the teaching of sectarian or denominational doctrine, nor to consider whether or to what extent its reading may be made a part of the exercises in the schools without offending the provisions of the state constitution and statutes."

"This last paragraph," the Fresno writer, "will give you an idea of just how far the decision has gone. It is quite interesting because we have had it under consideration now for two years."

MCADOO TELLS PLATFORM TO SUPPORTERS

(By United Press Leased Wire)

CHICAGO, Feb. 19. — Supporters of William G. McAdoo, having declared him fully available for the presidency, today carried back to the rank and file a list of issues accepted as the McAdoo platform. McAdoo pledged himself to the following program if elected:

To scourge the corrupt and unfit out of Washington.

To call a new international conference for the discussion of peace.

To break the "grip of Wall street on the treasury department and the federal reserve system."

To bring about railroad reform and reduce rates.

To do something concrete for the farmer.

To enforce the dry laws.

To reduce internal revenue taxes.

To repeal the Fordney-McCumber bill.

To clean out the veterans' bureau and operate it efficiently.

McAdoo was received with tumultuous acclaim when he was escorted to the room where the "advisability conference" reached its decision to keep him in the race, holding his connection with the Doheny Mexican oil interests was strictly ethical and legal.

"I accept the command," McAdoo cried when the resolution calling on him to continue the fight was read.

Religious Course In School Hours Under State Ban

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 19. — Religious instruction for school children on regular school time is contrary to the state constitution, according to an opinion rendered by Will C. Wood, state superintendent of schools by U. S. Webb, attorney general.

Several clergymen petitioned the school authorities in favor of a plan to close the schools an hour earlier two days a week so that teachers might give children such religious instruction as parents might direct.

"Some parents might not desire this form of instruction in the schools, and the plan therefore would cause unconstitutional discrimination," Webb said.

Authorities today were engaged in a search for Frank A. Morrison, alleged check kiter, following complaint of his asserted operations in this city.

A complaint sworn to by Walter Vandermast, local business man, charged that Morrison passed four checks for sums totalling $61 at one store here, February 2.

Slayer Attempts To End Own Life

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 19.—Edward Carleton, young naval deserter awaiting return to San Quentin following a life sentence for murder, was being watched carefully today, following a suicide attempt last night.

Carleton, in his cell in the county jail here, slashed his wrist with a jagged piece of tin, and was slowly bleeding to death when cellmates noticed him, and called guards, who rushed him to the jail hospital.

"IRON MAN" AS NAVAL CHIEF HELD NEED

(By United Press Leased Wire)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—If President Coolidge takes the advice of "insiders" in the navy department, he will appoint an "iron man" to succeed Edwin Denby as secretary of the navy.

A man who will brutally wield a big stick inside the department and take effective measures to check a waning morale is the crying need of the navy today, these well informed persons declare.

An enormous number of deserters, steady resignations of officers and an unprecedented run of disasters—at Point Honda, Cal., where several destroyers were lost; at Vera Cruz, where the Tacoma was wrecked and minor accidents elsewhere—are the fruits of conditions within the navy that require harsh measures for a cure, navy men say.

Several Mentioned Discussion today of a successor to Denby brought out several names.

President Coolidge has blasted the hopes of some with an official announcement from the White House that no naval officer will be named and nobody from Michigan—Denby's state.

Miles Poindexter, United States Ambassador to Peru, was much talked of today as Denby's successor. Poindexter's name was brought up when a high naval official said Denby would be succeeded by "a far westerner with liberal tendencies."

Poindexter formerly was regarded as a liberal.

Gov. Dixon, Montana, also has been spoken of as filling the requirement for a two-listed iron man.

Suggest Dawes "Hell and Maria" Dawes, former Veterans' Bureau head and now a member of the expert commission studying German reparations, is another suggested.

Secretary of the Interior Work's name was brought in by a report to the effect that Work would take the navy and Secretary of Commerce Hoover would replace Work in the interior portfolio.

Former Gov. Henry Allen of Kansas, Brigadier Smedley Butler, now safety director of Philadelphia and others less well known, were being discussed in gossip today.

Denby quits March 10. His successor will have about a year of Denby's term to serve.

Evangeline Booth Voices Good Word For Modern Girls

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 19.—Evangeline Booth, national commander of the Salvation Army forces is in Los Angeles today to participate in the dedication of the new Evangeline Home for Self-Supporting Girls.

Miss Booth expressed great confidence in the modern girl, saying that if skirts were no longer one year they would be longer the next. Although there are motor cars now, there was a time when there were bugies. There will be moonlight nights as long as there is a moon, she said.

Rich Loot Taken By Party Bandits

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 19.—A merry party in the home of P. P. Figueroa, in North Westlake avenue, was broken up near dawn today when six masked and armed bandits entered the house and robbed all the revelers.

Jewels valued at $1200 and more than $450 in money were obtained by the thieves, according to police reports.

The frightened guests were instructed to take seats and remain quiet while the "party bandits" relieved the women of their jewelry and the men of their money and watches.

SEIZE BOOZE CACHE LOS ANGELES, Feb. 19.—Police seized nearly 1,000 gallons of bonded liquor when they forced entry into West Pico residence. No one was in the residence, so no arrests were made.

TELLS PLAN TO MAKE RESORT POPULAR

While enjoying one of the most successful winter seasons in the history of the high San Bernardino mountain resort, Frank Culver, proprietor of Forest Home, already is making improvement in preparation for a summer rush, it was learned here today.

Included among these will be the installation of electricity both for cooking and lighting purposes. Poles for bringing the "juice" from the Southern Sierras Mill Creek plant already have been purchased, Culver said, and Forest Home should have its electricity by April. The hotel, dance pavilion and all public buildings as well as the cabins will be wired.

Another improvement planned includes the enlargement of the swimming plunge. This mountain rendezvous of aquatic lovers will be made more than twice its present size. Culver also is arranging for the construction of a 100,000 barrel water tank on the mountain behind the resort water system which will be completely renewed.

A Brandt, a noted tree expert formerly connected with the Canadian forest service, is employed in re-forestation of sections of the resort while the federal government has eighteen men engaged in clearing out and restoring riding and hiking trails adjacent to Forest Home.

S. A. Man Shares In $1000 Estate

Bertha Placcek, a sister of Siegmund Goldman, 1701 West Fourth street, this city, left a net estate of $1,043.59 when she died August 31, 1923, it was shown by a state appraisal of her property, on file in surrogate's court, Brooklyn, according to advices received here today.

Because she died intestate, the property passes over equally to another sister, Jennie Newman, New York City, and Goldman, the information stated.

The sister is the administratrix of the estate.

The gross value of the estate amounted to $1,660.20, and this consisted of cash, on deposit, with the Hamburg Savings bank, $178.30, and with the South Brooklyn Savings institution, $1,481.90.

Expenses of $616.61 were incidental to burial, the appraisal reveals.

Draw Candidates For Grand Jury

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 19.—Thirty names from 300 possibilities for the 1924 grand jury were to be drawn today by Judge Shenk, and the thirty ordered to appear Tuesday, at which time the nineteen members of the jury will be chosen.

DON'T MISS SEEING THE ROTARY PLOW IN ACTUAL OPERATION

A SINGLE UNIT SOIL MILLING MACHINE ONCE OVER THE FIELD AND YOUR WORK IS DONE

The Rotary Plow is a once-over-the-field machine, leaving no clods. All soil a mulch, all cover crops of every nature cut up and evenly distributed through the soil to any depth desired to 12 inches. No combination of farm implements and tools can possibly prepare a seed bed in like condition.

There is a loss of energy in traveling over plowed ground six or seven times in order to reduce 50 per cent of the soil to the necessary tilth for seeding.

The rotary plow with ONE MAN at ONE OPERATION leaves 100 per cent of the soil available for plant food immediately when tilted. A finished field resembles a well prepared lawn.

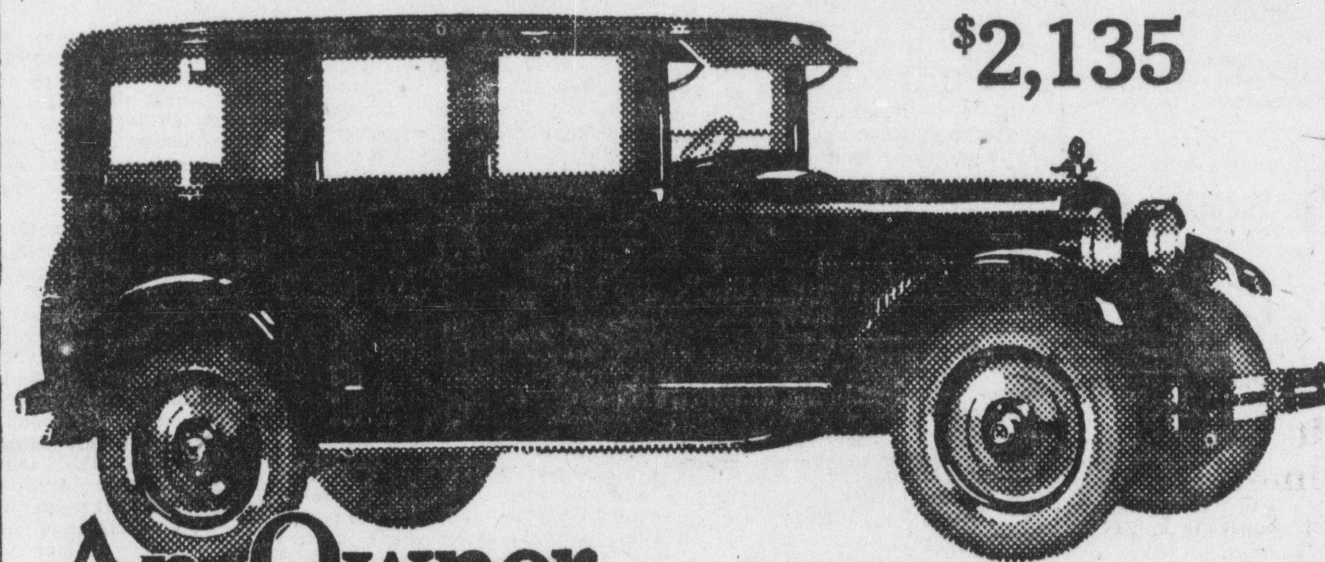

ALL DIRT FARMERS, TRUCK GARDENERS, and all persons interested directly or indirectly in soil preparation in Orange and adjoining counties are invited to witness the performance of the Rotary Plow on the IRVINE RANCH, 4 miles east of Santa Ana any afternoon of this week.

For information, catalogues, press comments, and expert agricultural reports on the work of this scientific machine call on

F. T. HAMSHAW,

Special Representative of Rotary Plow Company of Seattle Wash., any evening after 6 p. m. at Rossmore Hotel, Santa Ana

Rickenbacker

An Owner Offers a Suggestion

"My Rickenbacker Six is a delight—

"In performance it is 1000 per cent—

"It has the best set of springs ever put under an automobile, I verily believe.

"And my 4-Wheel Brakes are wonderful.

"But—

"Don't you think that, in your advertisements, you put too much emphasis on the ability to stop suddenly with your 4-Wheel Brakes, and too little on the wonderful smoothness with which you can always stop?

"I grant you that one experience such as I had—when an almost instantaneous stop at 20 miles per hour possibly saved the life of a pedestrian—justifies all and more than you claim for Rickenbacker 4-Wheel Brakes.

"There is a satisfaction that is indescribable in the knowledge that you can always depend upon those brakes in an emergency.

"But when one has gotten used to that and takes it for granted, there comes another sensation that increases your admiration.

"That is the delightful smoothness—the velvet softness—of these same 4-Wheel Brakes when you apply them leisurely as in ordinary driving.

"Why, I can start and stop my Rickenbacker Six so softly that the occupants would not sense the difference, were their eyes closed.

"Seems to me these combined attributes of smooth acceleration, (which your engineers have achieved by the vibrationless motor) and the equally smooth deceleration they have obtained by the perfectly equalized 4-Wheel Brakes, are the points which you should stress.

"To an experienced motorist—especially one who has previously owned high-class cars and who likes to drive himself—

"In other words to the Cognoscenti as you call them—and among whom I class myself—having driven a motor car since the days of the "one-lungers"—these qualities are of even greater importance than the great speed or the quick stop of which my Rickenbacker Six is capable."

S. A. MONKEY IS RUNNING WILD IN ANAHEIM

Now Making Monkeys of Police Department, All Same Here

ANAHEIM, Feb. 19.—The monkey that long made a "monkey" of the Santa Ana police department and courthouse officials, is trying the same stunt in Anaheim now. Pat and Mike and Tom and Jerry recently went under the auctioneer's hammer at Santa Ana and were purchased by Golden Brothers Circus which is wintering in Anaheim.

Pat, however, didn't like circus life but instead prefers to dodge the Anaheim police.

Eleven calls were received by the officers yesterday and at one time no less than eight men were in pursuit of the monkey, but he only gave them the "monkey chatter," or rather the "monkey chatter."

CHARGE POLICE BEAT HUSBAND IN OIL FIELD

Huntington Beach Woman Asks City Trustees to Make Probe

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 19.—Charging a local police officer with brutally attacking her husband, Mrs. Sylvester of 1215 Huntington avenue, last night appealed to the city council to investigate the matter to the fullest.

Mrs. Sylvester's charges were sustained by James Doley, warehouse foreman of the Interstate Oil company, who, although not an eye witness to the alleged attack, arrived on the scene soon after.

Mr. Sylvester, who was injured, declared that he is a watchman on the Interstate oil property here, and said that last Friday night about 10:30 p. m. he heard his dog barking and then a shot while he was in his home on the property.

Claims Knocked Down "Going out to see what was the matter, some one stuck a flashlight in my face. I asked for the light to be put down and for the person to tell me who it was, but got no answer. I tried to push the flashlight away from my face and was struck on the jaw by a man who later proved to be a local policeman," he declared.

Mrs. Sylvester stated that A. E. Bannister, one of the policemen who came up soon afterward, was a "perfect gentleman," but that the other one, was not, and expressed the desire to meet the gentleman. She further stated that a policeman should be ashamed to "pick on a little fellow like her husband who could not hear very well."

Local officers state that Sylvester had reported mysterious characters about his well for several nights and they were investigating. According to Chief of Police John Tinsley, as the police drove up on one side of the well another car drove up on the other side. The officers proceeded to investigate and were attacked by Sylvester's dog. Sylvester was not watching the well. Failing to frighten the dog away with a flashlight and threats, the officer fired a shot into the ground.

Officers Blame Sylvester Hearing the shot, Sylvester charged from the house and attacked the officer. Chief Tinsley further stated that the officer showed him to start Mr. Sylvester and told him that he was an officer. Mr. Sylvester is said to have shouted, "I don't care who you are," and then to have struck Officer Bannister across the mouth with his fist.

Hearing the fight, Mrs. Sylvester rushed from the house and seeing her husband fighting with another man she was said to have picked up a club with which to hit the officer. D. H. Westmoreland, the other officer, was forced to take the stick from her, he said.

The entire matter is to be given an immediate hearing before the police committee of the local council. R. L. Obar, A. Obar and Charles Andrews are members of the police committee.

ANAHEIM, Feb. 19.—With the election of officers and the board of directors for the Anaheim Community Holding company, final plans for the big $200,000 industrial fund campaign to open in Anaheim Wednesday morning are being whittled into shape and the program completed for an industrial banquet on Tuesday night. It is expected more than 300 business and professional men of the city will gather for a general discussion of the project and to receive direct information as to the aims and objects of the new corporation.

Fifty of the representative men of Anaheim have been appointed on two teams, the Blues and the Greys, the first under the leadership of Oscar Renner and the second with R. B. Young at the helm, and have pledged their support to the corporation which, it is hoped, will make of Anaheim an industrial center second to none in the Southland.

ANAHEIM, Feb. 19.—Police today had found no trace of burglars who looted the J. F. Kemper residence Sunday night, escaping with articles valued at approximately $500. The loot consisted chiefly of jewelry and clothing.

The home was entered by cutting the screen door on the front porch and then entering by the front door. The occupants of the house were awakened just as the thieves were leaving and an alarm immediately given. The police arrived within three minutes and the burglar was traced a short distance away, where he entered a waiting car and escaped.

ANAHEIM, Feb. 19.—Residents of the Westminster section may get two deliveries of mail daily, providing a plan now under way materializes. The postal department, it is understood, has under consideration a proposal to sanction the new service over the star motor route which runs between Long Beach and Santa Ana.

ORANGE SHOW SELLS LOT ANAHEIM, Feb. 19.—Sale of the Orange County Valencia company's packing house, located on the Union Pacific tracks here, to the Pay Fruit company of Los Angeles, one of the largest fruit packing concerns in the south, was announced here yesterday.

STREET PAVING IS ORDERED AT BEACH

Much Work Ordered

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 19.—A petition asking the immediate paving of Fourteenth street was last night presented to the board of trustees here by property owners of the street, and accepted by the city council.

Resolution 419, ordering the work on Fifth street, resolution 421, ordering the work on Tenth street, resolution 422, ordering the work on Tenth street, and resolution 423, ordering the work on Eleventh street, were last night passed by the board of trustees here.

Fifth street, Fifteenth street, and Tenth street are to be paved and an ornamental lighting system is to be installed on Eleventh street. Bids are to be opened on the various contracts March 17.

The committee, on streets and parks was appointed to confer with a committee from the Chamber of Commerce on the establishment of an auto tourist camp ground in this city. John Barlow, manager of the local plunge, cited the satisfactory working of the camp ground at Santa Ana and declared that it would be a fine thing for this city when the new highway is opened through the city.

Buy Buick Car The bid of the Reid motor company for a Buick four touring car was accepted at $1160. The car will be used by the local engineering department. A permit was issued to Mr. Lachar for the erection of an all steel service station on the corner of Seventh street and Ocean avenue. An invitation was extended to the members of the city council to attend the meeting of the W. C. T. U., which will meet at the First Methodist church Thursday evening at 7 p. m. when the state president, Mrs. Eva Cramer Wheeler, will speak. The meeting will begin at 10 a. m. Thursday.

Bleaches Teeth White
Watch Tobacco Stains Vanish!
Good-bye dark, dingy, spotted and tobacco stained teeth! For a dentist's wonderful discovery—Bleachodent Combination—removes stains almost instantly, giving yellowish stained teeth a beautiful new whiteness and sparkle. No effect on enamel—its safe mild ingredients are intended to act only on surface stains. Consists of harmless liquid, which softens the stains, and a special kind of paste which not only removes the softened stains, but actually prevents formation of new ones. Fine for children's teeth. Beneficial to gums. WARNING—Do not be deceived into buying cheap liquid preparations claiming same results as Bleachodent Combination. Be sure to insist on genuine Bleachodent Combination, the SAFE treatment, containing both liquid and special paste. Small cost at all good stores, such as White Cross Drug Co., C. S. Kelley, Santa Ana Drug Store, Parson's Drug Store, Haddon Drug Co., Givens & Cannon Pharmacy.

Rub It On At Bedtime for All Deep Chest Colds

Absorbed Like a Liniment and at same time Inhaled as a Vapor, Vicks Quickly Reaches The Affected Parts.

When a cold goes down deep—threatens to turn into bronchitis or pneumonia—with soreness, tight breathing and a heavy, hollow cough, try the external vaporizing treatment. First reddens the skin over throat and chest with hot, wet towels to open the pores. Then massage with Vicks for five minutes, spread on thickly and cover with two thicknesses of hot flannel cloths.

The penetrative and stimulative effect of Vicks thru the skin helps to relieve congestion. At the same time, the vapors, inhaled with each breath all night long, carry the medication directly to the affected parts.

Orange Show Men To Divulge Motif

ANAHEIM, Feb. 19.—The general plan and motif of the annual California Valencia Orange Show will be announced here following the visit today of the board of directors of the local event, to the citrus show at San Bernardino where they will be guests of the show directors of that city.

It has been announced by the local board, however, that permanent grounds for the show will be established this year and that they will be beautified by flowers and shrubbery for use in all the future events.

60,000 GUESTS AT MONSTER BARBECUE

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 19.—Approximately 60,000 persons poured into San Francisco canyon Sunday, accepting a radio invitation extended by Capt. Edward A. Salisbury, millionaire lecturer and traveler, to attend a free barbecue on his big ranch.

The invitation drew the largest crowd that ever attended a barbecue in this section of the state. Some radio fans from middle western states came half-way across the country to be present.

NOTICE INVITING BIDS

In pursuance of the Resolution of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Orange, California, adopted February 15, 1924, directing this Notice, notice is hereby given that the Board will receive, at its offices, in the Court House, at Santa Ana, on or before the hour of eleven o'clock, A. M., of March 11th, 1924, sealed bids or proposals for the construction and installation of an elevator in the new jail building to be constructed at Santa Ana, California.

The bids must be made and addressed to the Board of Supervisors, Orange County, California, the work to be done in accordance with the plans and specifications adopted by the Board of Supervisors on file in the office of the said Board in the Court House.

Each bidder must submit with his proposal a satisfactory check, certified by a responsible bank and payable to the order of the County of Orange, or a bid bond in an amount not less than five per cent. (5%) of the aggregate sum of the bid, as a guarantee that the bidder will enter into the proposed contract if the same is awarded to him, and in the event of failure to enter into the contract, the said check or bond shall become the property of the County.

The amount of the bid bond to be secured by the faithful performance of the contract for said work shall be twenty-five per cent. of the contract price thereof, and an additional bond, in an amount equal to fifty per cent. (50%) of the contract price, shall be given to the County of Orange, to secure the payment of claims for any material or supplies furnished for the work, and to secure the payment of claims for any labor or services rendered in connection with the work, and to secure the payment of claims for any damages or injuries to persons or property caused by the work, and to secure the payment of claims for any other and all claims of whatever nature and kind that may be asserted against the contractor or his subcontractors, or any of them, in connection with the work, and to secure the payment of claims for any other and all claims of whatever nature and kind that may be asserted against the contractor or his subcontractors, or any of them, in connection with the work.

The Board of Supervisors reserves the right to reject any and all bids. By order of the Board of Supervisors, of the County of Orange, State of California.
Dated February 15th, 1924.
J. M. BACKS, County Clerk.

NAVAL RESERVE CRAFT AMUCK MAKES PIER

SANTA BARBARA, Feb. 19.—An investigation is under way here today to determine responsibility in an accident late Sunday at a local wharf in which Eagle Boat 12 crashed into the pier, doing damage estimated at $3500.

The boat, with fifteen members of the Santa Barbara naval reserve aboard, was returning from a cruise, Commander Clark, in charge, reported that he ordered "hard left" when the craft was 250 feet from the wharf, proceeding at 10 knots.

The steering wheel failed to function, he said, and before the engines could be reversed, the Eagle crashed into the pier. Four stringers were carried away, and the dock badly damaged.

The naval reservists were grouped in the forecastle, and barely escaped injury from the jagged woodwork that tumbled down upon them.

Commander Clark estimated the loss to the dock at $1500 and $2000 to the boat.

Commander A. H. Woodbine, as senior officer; Lieutenant Shedd and Ensign Miller will probe the accident.

Alleged Aide of L. A. Gem Bandit Gang Is Tailed

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 19.—Police of Regina, Saskatchewan, are holding a man believed to be an agent of three bandits who some days ago robbed the Theodore Weik jewelry establishment of $200,000 worth of diamonds and $2000 in cash, according to a wire to local police.

The telegram, which did not give the man's name, stated that he had tried to sell 150 diamond rings, and asked that Los Angeles police make an investigation to determine if the rings had been stolen here.

Seymour Arrives For Motor Bike Duals at Ascot

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 19.—John Seymour, one of the fastest riders who ever straddled a motorbike is to arrive in Los Angeles today from his home in Springfield, Mass. He is bringing with him two of the speediest two-wheeled vehicles in the world.

Seymour is scheduled to race with Gene Walker at the Ascot speedway races next Sunday.

Walker had everything his way last Sunday and the advent of Seymour, who won three of the 1923 championships, insures maximum competition.

Another speed demon to make his debut at the Ascot races Sunday is Sid Haugh, dual credited with driving a car three miles in one minute, who is expected to make Ralph De Palma's track record look like bicycle time. He may find, however, that the size of the speedway is the thing that determines speed records, rather than the power of a car.

Save for a basketball game at the Poly courts this afternoon in which Ed Covington's little 110-pounders were trying to shoot more baskets than San Diego's mid-giants and the feverish efforts of the Poly mentor to arrange for the Tri-County Class C league play-off because the locals, Pasadena and Whittier are in a three-cornered tie, things athletically were quiet today along the Santa Ana high school rialto.

Ray Addinson, popular Poly track coach, still is on the shelf with a cold and Covington has his hands full running all the branches of sport at the big white buildings.

Court Season Over

The Poly basketball season, as far as the first and Class B (130-pound) teams are concerned, is finished.

The players on these squads have turned in their suits. Most of them are ready to report for some other form of spring sport activity.

Although the baseball field is in good shape and the outfield has been leveled so that the gardeners may dash after a fly ball without falling over some giant weed, the diamond pastimes have been given the official tidings to "come out."

This summons probably will be issued within the next ten days.

The Santa Ana track squad, looking a lot better as a result of its work at the San Bernardino Orange Show relay carnival last Saturday in which it tied for fourth will have no outside competition.

Beach Stars in Meet

A meet was planned with Ray Walker's crack Huntington Beach flock but the genial beach coach will take Ross Nichols, Milt Nash, Elliott and his other point guarders to the Coliseum in Los Angeles Saturday for the A. U. meet so that is out of the question.

The sensational girls' hockey team winner of three games without a point having been scored on it, will mark time until March 1 when Miss Alverda West, coach, will take the "shinney" devotees to Long Beach to compete against the leading girls' footballers of the Southland. Poly tennis and indoor baseball co-eds also will represent this city in the "Play Day" contests.

Several National league clubs are to be shaken up by trades that may not be completed before the next season actually starts, in the opinion of Branch Rickey, manager of the St. Louis Cards, who was here recently on a business trip.

Rickey said in his experience he had never seen a much trade talk among the club owners that was meant seriously. The difficulty, he pointed out, in swinging the deals was the usual one—they all want the best of the deal.

The St. Louis manager said he had been offered Charlie Hollocher and Rabbit Maranville, but he didn't want either one of them or his successor to Doc Lavan, who is said to be scheduled out of St. Louis.

Rickey is after one of the Boston catchers and it is probable that the deal will be completed before the teams go south.

The hope was also spoiled by Rickey that Pittsburgh is not after Jimmy Ring, who won eight last season. He admitted, however, that most any club in the league would take him off Baker's hands if the deal could be swung without giving too much for him.

Perhaps the Cardinal manager meant to include himself when he said: "They all want too much for their players." He certainly belongs to that classification himself, as he was not modest in placing a valuation of $500,000 on Rogers Hornsby.

John McGraw hasn't recovered yet from the terrible shock he got when Rickey, in reply to a question of what he would take for the champion batsman of the league, started off: "Frisch, Jack."

McGraw stopped him right there, and said he would not give Frisch for Hornsby in an even trade.

McGraw meant it, and he is probably right. Frisch is practically just getting started. He has by no means reached the top of his game and he is getting better each season. With the exception of his hitting, Frisch is a more valuable player now than Hornsby, and his work with the bat is nothing to be sneezed at.

Hornsby probably has reached the top of his game. He may continue to lead the league in batting for several more seasons, but he will get no faster as he grows older, and he already has a weak knee.

Frisch has been a sensation ever since he jumped into the emergency at second base in 1916, and he was his best season. His last year in the world's series was

The three best base stealers the American League has seen are Ty Cobb, Clyde Milan and Eddie Collins. Each of them topped the 80 mark in stealers over a season's time.

Cobb, in 1915, hung up the high-water effort, snagging 96 sacks. Cobb, by all odds, stands supreme in this department of play. The other two, however, aren't far behind the brilliant Georgian.

FASTEST CARS IN NATION ENTERED IN BIG BEVERLY HILLS SPEEDWAY RACE ON SUNDAY

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 19.—Seven-teen of the world's greatest masters of the perilous calling of the speedway profession are listed for the opening championship speed classic of 1924—the 250 mile event scheduled for February 24 on the famous board speedway at Beverly Hills.

But few days remain before A. M. Young, manager of the Los Angeles Speedway association, the organization controlling the Beverly bowl, closes his books for entries.

Never before, veterans of the sport declare, has such an array of talent been announced by an American speedway. The cream of the racing profession is entered with the fastest cars in the world. There is a possibility, according to Manager Young, that two entries will come in and he declares he hopes they do. But they are not needed and possibly might be eliminated before the start of the race as the qualifying speed is going to be set at the highest mark in the history of the sport.

This morning Cliff Durant, president of the speedway and one of the competitors in the Beverly classic of the 24th, declared that all of the fastest cars in America—with one exception—were entered and would face the starter of the opening championship classic.

As a consequence the race management is assured of the classiest field ever gathered on the Boards of Beverly. Automatically it guarantees the greatest speed classic to mark the final contest on the famous course that is soon to pass into history to make way for the growth of Los Angeles, the greatest city in the West.

Competition between the four teams of cars entered promises to be strong. The Millers, the Duesenbergs, the Durants entered by Cliff Durant and the Durants owned by Harry Hartz will all be out there for the coveted checkered flag.

Of course right now the Miller Special quartet, composed of Jimmy Murphy, Bennett Hill, Tommy Milton and Ralph Hepburn looks to be about the most formidable. The announcement of Milton's joining the Miller squad came as a great surprise after the famous star had entered the race with young Hepburn, his protégé.

It was known that Harry Miller was building a new car for Milton and working hard to get it ready for the coming race but it was generally believed that Milton was to drive independently and mount Hepburn on one of his extra cars, possibly the mount he drove last year. This was entirely changed when Miller announced the entries of Milton and Hepburn on Miller Specials along with those of Murphy and Hill.

Bennett is driving the same Miller Special with which he won the 250 mile Thanksgiving day speed classic but the other Miller racers are new jobs which will make their first competitive appearance in the February 24 race. Hill's car is practically new as it was never in competition except in the last race where it won over a fast field.

Young Harlan Fenger is driving the fifth Miller Special in the lists. However, this speed car is not a member of the Miller team. Instead Fenger is on his own responsibility.

Three Duesenbergs "in." The three-car Duesenberg aggregation is likely to make things interesting for the Miller stars throughout the 250 mile grind. The "Duesies" are much faster than they were Thanksgiving Day and with Joe Boyer, Phil Shafer and Ernie Ansterberg driving, even Milton and Murphy will know they have been in a race after they finish with the Duesenberg trio.

Although Cliff Durant has cut his speed team down to Eddie Hearne and himself there will be five Durant Specials in the meet. Harry Hartz has entered two of the fast Durants, while Jerry Wonderlich is driving the Durant

Spokesman For Millionaire Group Asks For Another Day to Get $50,000

By HENRY L. FARRELL
NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—Forced to a showdown by the wily Louis Firpo, the "million dollar" syndicate that was bidding for a Firpo-Firpo match will have to find an out or admit that it was only spoofing.

Low Raymond, the spokesman for the group of millionaire sportsmen who were to give Firpo and Willis $250,000 and stage the fight in a sunken concrete stadium in the Bronx about that would set 120,000, said today that he had asked for another day's grace.

Raymond needs $50,000 to deposit in a New York bank as a guarantee that he is aspiring to do more than get his name in the papers and help Harry Wills get a little advertising.

Apparently Raymond hasn't the $50,000 or it would have been posted, before this.

Cables received by the United Press today from South America indicated that Firpo is cooling on the proposition and that he is beginning to resent the use of his name.

If Firpo decide to work again for Rickard and it is almost

EVENING SALUTATION

And we shall turn our faces to the West.
And breathe clean air and see the glowing sun
Dip into blue horizons; and our quest
For beauty and splendor, long begun,
Will end where snowy peak-tops, crowned with mist
Lift their white arms in worship to the sky.
Like white-clad maidens thrilling to the kiss
Of lovers. Though the years go swiftly by,
Age will not be a dread unwelcome guest;
We shall have memories of star-hung nights
And campfires glowing on the desert's breast!

THE BALANCE OUR WAY

Just a day or two ago we heard somebody say that "hundreds of people had moved out of Santa Ana because of the typhoid epidemic."

We didn't believe the statement. None of our neighbors or friends had moved away. We heard of quite a number of newcomers, too.

It is easy to make comprehensive statements. It is easy to deal in superlatives. How often do we pause to analyze things we say? We take "they say" as foundation enough for conviction.

Too often we hear a thing and repeat it without investigation or analysis. In this instance, we happened to have means at hand to determine the truth or untruth of the statement.

When a subscriber of The Register leaves Santa Ana he either stops his paper or has it sent to his new address. The last thing he does before he leaves town is to go to the post office and turn in an order to have his mail forwarded to him. If there were any great number of changes being made, they would be noticeable at these two places—the newspaper and the post office.

Inquiry at The Register's circulation desk developed the fact that there was no foundation for the statement. The number of changes in addresses was normal—decidedly normal.

At the post office the number of changes was found to be less during the past two weeks than during any time since last November. The newcomers outnumbered those leaving the city. The orders for changes were checked out in the following exact proportion:

Number of orders to have mail forwarded out of Santa Ana, 18; number of orders for mail for new arrivals in Santa Ana, 31; number of changes of address from one point to another inside the jurisdiction of the post office, 51.

And this proportion was declared by the directory clerks to be normal. Those leaving, in most instances, are persons who have been here on visits with friends or relatives.

The "balance of trade" is decidedly in favor of Santa Ana now just as it has been for months, even years.

GET THE JOB COMPLETED

We have no disposition to tell the city councils of Santa Ana, Orange, Anaheim and Fullerton how to handle the controversy that has arisen over the contract for the building of the outfall sewer. The councils are in close touch with the situation, and without doubt have taken precaution to protect the interests of the cities.

But we do desire to express the hope that the outfall be completed and put into use as soon as possible. For that reason whatever litigation is found necessary ought by all means to be hastened to a conclusion.

Adequacy of a sewer system is of paramount importance. The cities associated in this enterprise have needed an adequate outfall to the sea for some years, and the need grows more pressing month by month.

Adequacy of sewer mains of all sizes must be watched. Precautions against over-loading must be watched. Incidentally, it might be mentioned that recent reports indicate that quite a number of residences of the city have water drains from their roofs connected with the sewer. These tend to create an over-load on some of the sewer mains that ought not to be allowed, and we understand, is to be remedied by official action at once. Santa Ana has not a sewer system designed to carry storm waters.

The outfall is the key line to the building up of a perfect sewer system in each of the cities using the outfall. So far as Santa Ana is concerned, its plain duty in relation to every main leading to the larger mains leading to the outfall is to see to it that no main can ever be overloaded.

AMERICAN ACTION IN BERLIN

Nobody knew just what the business situation was in Germany, and nobody seemed able to find out. Prejudice and lack of direct business methods hampered allied statesmen. The Germans themselves, overwhelmed by their own disaster, did not seem to know, and could hardly be trusted to make a frank revelation if they did.

Then into Germany came two American business men, Messrs. Dawes and Young, with their international committee of experts appointed by the baffled reparations commission. Under the driving power of Chairman Dawes, that committee went ahead with such vigor as was never seen before in Berlin. German officials and bankers and economists were so amazed by its energy and efficiency that they stopped hedging and sparring and equivocating, and gave the information desired. The tremendous job was accomplished in two weeks, probably breaking all European records for comparable inquiries.

Now that committee is planning to submit a complete report within a month, stating simply and clearly the economic condition of bankrupt Germany and recommending a specific plan for the reorganization of German finance and industry, so as to put the country on a reparation-paying basis again as quickly as possible.

There is action! If it succeeds, it will aid immensely to American prestige abroad, benefit America in a business way by improving business in Europe and encourage supplementary efforts on the part of Americans, officially or unofficially, to solve post-bellum problems of world-wide scope.

LONG DISTANCE RADIO

When an audience in Capetown, South Africa, can listen to a program given in Schenectady, N. Y., the world does seem to shrink a little. A broadcast station in the New York town recently received a letter from Capetown describing a radio program received there and broadcast from Schenectady on January 4. The description was checked up with the record of the program and was found to tally perfectly, which means that radio successfully bridged an airline distance of 7,880 miles.

A Chicago station reports having reached, one night recently, with the same program, the Arctic explorer Macmillan, in his ship up near the North Pole, and a listener in Samoa, 7,500 miles in the other direction.

Nobody appears to be excited about the matter. It is a success which the experts expect and which everyone else is inclined to take for granted.

It is no longer safe to prophesy what will or will not be possible in the coming years. Neither is it necessary to do so, for science continues to advance, inventions are pushed nearer to perfection and the public accepts it all as normal and right, without any particular preparation.

Rumors and Insinuations

Stockton Independent
While the consensus of public opinion will favor an investigation into the oil lease scandals that will spare none who are guilty however high his position, be he living or dead, at the same time the public will feel that the insinuations and implications that are being so freely made should be substantiated by more than mere rumor or hearsay.

For example, Frank A. Vanderlip stated that the Marion Star (the paper formerly owned by President Harding) was sold for $500,000, a sum far in excess of its value in Mr. Vanderlip's opinion, then asks the question, "where did the money come from and where did it go?"

David Lawrence, well-known Washington correspondent, replying states that in January a year ago, he spent an evening at the White House and that during the evening the conversation turned to newspapers and President Harding stated that during the year just past the Marion Star had made $60,000. He then asked Mr. Lawrence what he thought the paper worth on that basis, and Mr. Lawrence answered, "$600,000." Mr. Lawrence states that the price at which the paper was sold was in fact $350,000.

Hoke Donithen, the Ohio manager of the Coolidge campaign, states that after President Harding's death, the minority of stockholders in the Marion Star (of which Mrs. Harding is one) offered to buy back the newspaper from the present owners at the price they had paid.

The American public will surely feel that Mr. Vanderlip or any one else intimating the complicity of the late President Harding in the oil lease scandals should be forced to substantiate the charges with something more tangible than rumors or hearsay. Equal justice should be given all who are involved in the investigation. To establish the innocence of the innocent is equally as important as to establish the guilt of the guilty.

Tighten Up the Border

Fresno Republican
The opening of licensed opium dives in Mexico, just across the border from Imperial county in California, is a mark both of lowered morale in Mexican government and of advanced danger to the character of the American border. It calls for increased attention from all American governmental agencies that are concerned with preservation of American social order. Especially is it important that the infiltration of opium be not encouraged by an increase in the number of Americans who can go in sport over the line, be lured into the habit and then add to the number of habitual users on this side who constitute the patronage of dope bootleggers.

The Mexican border must always be, as long as the Mexican people continue in their present unstable political condition, a source of disorder to Americans and of embarrassment to our government. We may be forced into taking radical action, at times, for the preservation of our own social conditions against intrusion from the Mexican side.

The states ought to co-operate with the national government in keeping the border clean and tight. There ought to be no twilight zone, in which a vagueness of authority, any legal disputes, between states and nation, could interfere with the protection that American border requires.

The legislature of California should hear earnestly any suggestions that may come from the national government with regard to opium suppression or other moral questions. And the California delegation in Congress should act with other western delegations in securing federal co-operation with state laws for the same purpose.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

FATTY HEART

This is really not an uncommon condition, and the symptoms can be so embarrassing that a few words may be of help to one afflicted. The first thing to remember is that fat is accumulating around the heart, and actually in between the muscle fibres of the heart, just because it is another place for it to accumulate.

You see one afflicted with a fatty heart has been putting on fat all over the body, and the heart simply shares in the general increase. He may be free of any real symptoms until he tries to do something a little more than usual, walk a bit faster, run a short distance for a car, any extra exertion he makes, and immediately his breath becomes labored, he has palpitation, tightness of the chest, and dizziness. In fact he may have a complete collapse.

So, if you are putting on an excess of fat, and a little exertion causes above symptoms get busy with yourself.

You accumulated the fat in only one way—eating more than was necessary. In young people it may be an inherited tendency to the accumulation of fat.

You correct the fatty heart condition by first cutting down on your food, particularly starchy food, and all liquids.

The next step is systematic exercise to help to strengthen up the muscle of the heart. The heart in fact is all muscle.

There is just this one point to remember. If you are under forty, you will be in fair shape to stand the food reduction and the exercise.

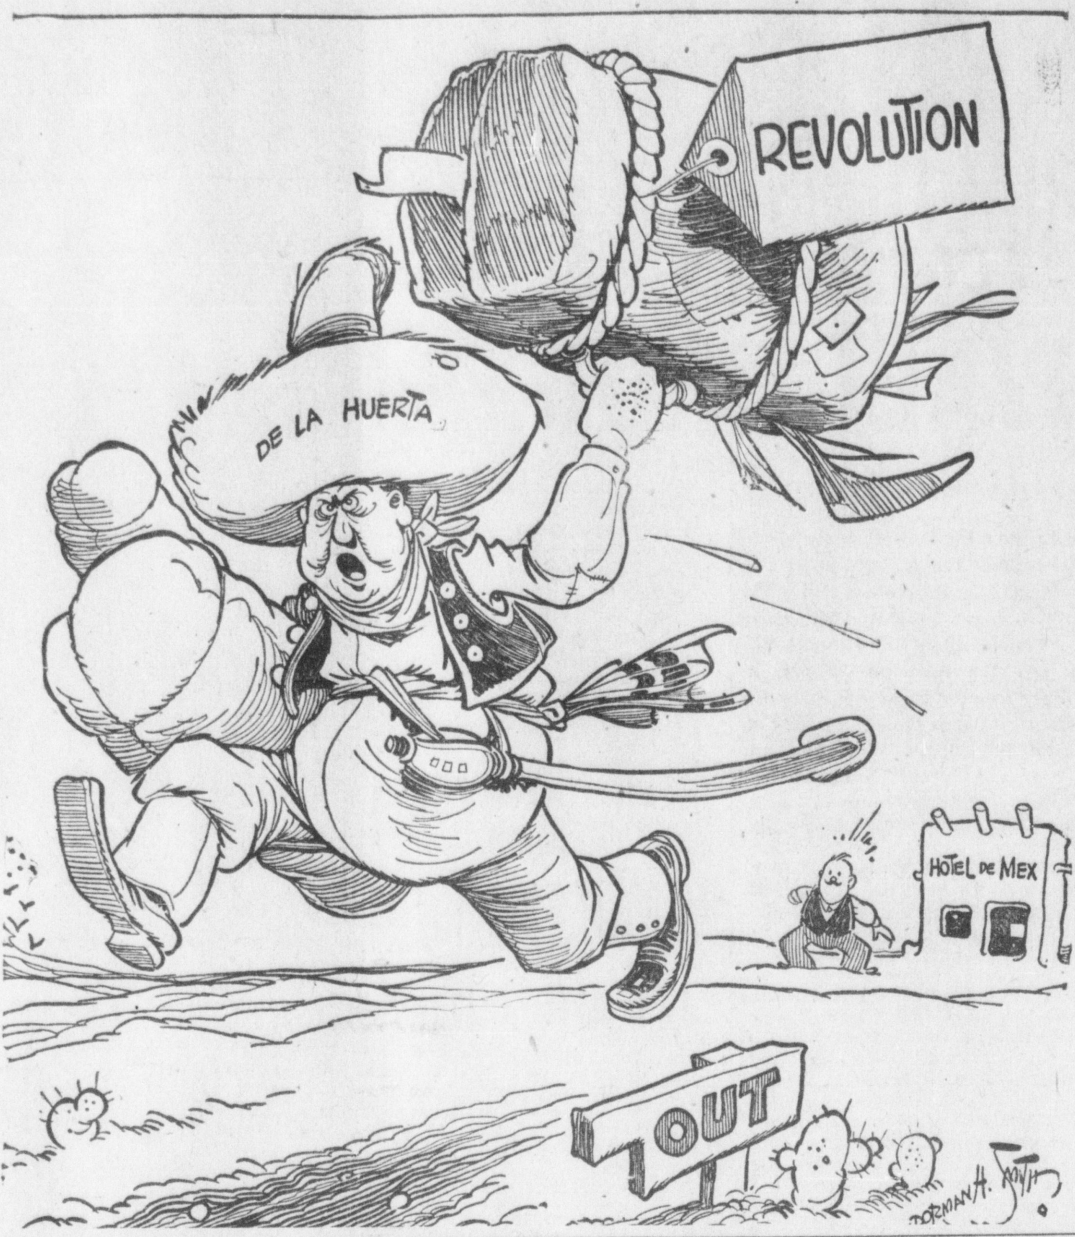

In the matter of food, liquids should be cut down to the lowest possible amount as I said above. Vegetables and bread also. I know that meats and eggs may be a little hard on the heart and kidneys, but they can be safely used where regular exercise is taken.

If you are past forty, make the food reduction very gradual. Don't be in a hurry to reduce. It may weaken your whole system.

And be careful with the exercise. Take plenty of walking, and gradually increase the distance and pace. It is not unusual in cities where they have good sized hills or small mountains adjacent, to see numbers of these stout people with fatty hearts, walking up the ascent to different heights, and at various rates of speed.

It is simple, it is safe, and it gives the results.

The Noisy Lodger Checks Out

An American Struggle

San Diego Union

American life is full of romances, written and unwritten—mostly the latter. From the founding of the first English settlement at Jamestown—Will Shakespeare was still living then!—to the mobilization of 3,000,000 American men and boys for battle duty overseas, 310 years later, episodes marked by the grand or the picturesque abound in the long story of America's development. The struggle for independence, the naval exploits of the early nineteenth century, the struggle over slavery, Indian fighting, pioneering with ox teams or steel rails, reclamation, the building of the Panama Canal—how slightly these things have been touched by the pen of the romancer!

One of these romances has been suggested recently, in a curiously formal way—through the medium of a mimeographed report issued to Southern California newspapers by Pomona college. The romance of the American small college—where has it been portrayed?

The writer of this report from Pomona—probably a professor—doesn't attempt the task. He contents himself with setting down a few little-known facts. He draws a parallel between the history of Harvard college and the shorter story of Pomona—but he broadly admits that the parallel applies to many another sturdy small college that is today doing its share in a difficult work for our country and the finest of its ideals.

"And who was on the register when college was begun? Two nephews of the President and the Professor's son!"

That is the introduction. In Harvard it began in the year 1636. In Pomona, in 1887. In other small colleges over the land, other dates are celebrated—but the outlines of the various college histories are the same. Struggle is the keynote.

These small colleges, unlike the great State institutions, are dependent upon private endowment. In the early years, the devoted men and women who loved a pioneer college faced every year a money deficit and often an utter lack of appreciation for the work they had set out to do. They dug down into their pockets, and kept on. When finally the college was "established"—established as Pomona, and Occidental, and Whittier, for example, in our own region—public appreciation was won. A reputation was in the making. Always, though, there was the constant struggle for funds. Some colleges of this same type are now far beyond the problems of that period. Harvard for instance, is in very little danger of bankruptcy. But not even Harvard, is financially self-supporting. The young men and women of any college pay but a small part of the expenses of their education—otherwise, a college course would be only for the rich.

The small college—not only Pomona, but the Pomona type, is, in other words, producing at a loss. The romance of the college is the story of the faith, the steadfastness, the courage and the resourcefulness of its patrons. The romance is as old as Harvard and as modern as Pomona. It is going on every day, and some of our fellow-citizens here have a part in it.

Here is one type of American resourcefulness. Here is a steady emphasis on human values, and a steady determination that a money deficit shall never destroy the output of something more important than money.

Worth While Verse

THE PLOW

Above you somber swell of land
Thou seest the dawn's orange hue,
With one pale streak like yellow sand,
And over that a vein of blue.

The air is cold above the woods;
All silent is the earth and sky,
Except with his own lonely moods
The blackbird holds a colloquy.

Over the broad hill creeps a beam,
Like hope that gilds a good man's brow;
And now ascends the nostril-stream
Of stalwart horses come to plow.

Ye rigid plowmen, bear in mind
Your labor is for future hours;
Advance—spare not—nor look behind—
Plow deep and straight with all your powers!

SUGGESTS ATTENTION BE DIRECTED TO WORTH WHILE SUGGESTIONS

Editor Register:—You, Mr. Reader, can you take over the reins of the Health Department and run it more efficiently than the present personnel? If you can handle the affairs of this city better than it is being handled at present, there is a mighty big job open for you. In fact, there is a job for any man or woman that CAN show the other fellow a better way of doing things.

Some sort of an epidemic broke out in Santa Ana.

Test after test was made of the city water, but the analyses failed to show anything wrong. Finally, someone discovered the sewer backing up or running into one of the city's reservoirs. You know the story from this point back to the latter part of December. Since the discovery was made that the sewer did run for a short time into the water, there has been a great deal of propaganda on the streets of Santa Ana as well as other cities. We find the expressions are generally made by the chronic kicker, the non-producer, and the fellow who never offers any worth while suggestions for better ways of improving the efficiency of the city departments.

I was sitting in the lobby of a hotel the other evening, and to my surprise, heard this remark from a traveling salesman: "Well, wish I could find someone to go to dinner with me, I am going over to Orange as I am afraid to eat here in Santa Ana." Of all the "silly" and absurd things, that copped the prize.

One man walked into a confectionery store and wanted a dish of ice cream; before it was served, he remarked: "Where is the ice cream you use made?" Upon learning it was made in Santa Ana, he said, "guess I won't want any ice cream today."

What I would like to know, is, where do these men get their hope that everything we have to eat here in Santa Ana—IS POISON? People in San Diego think we are dying off by the dozens, people in other cities think we are in an awful mess.

Why is it, that certain classes of men and women delight in spreading the little misfortunes of a town? When something good happens in a town, these same little "half-baked" people are nowhere to be found. These same little fellows have a long nose and keen ears—when something happens that may cause trouble such as the epidemic, these little half-baked fellows are right on the job.

Too bad they couldn't get in on the smallpox epidemic of Los Angeles—oh, well, that was Los Angeles! You didn't hear much about the smallpox epidemic in Los Angeles, did you? WHY? The sewer of Santa Ana leaked into one of the water mains of Santa Ana. That happened sometime in December—it just happened—and you or I or anyone else can not do a thing about it. The cause of the epidemic has been removed. The City Health Department did not put in the water and sewer system. Neither can the members get down on their hands and knees and investigate each foot of pipe.

Why stand around on the street corner chewing the rag? Other cities have gone through similar experiences. The whole affair was unfortunate. I am neither upholding or condemning the present city administration, but just speaking as one who firmly believes in the future of Santa Ana.

As stated in the beginning, this is a free country, a country of free thinking—if you are not satisfied with the way the city is being run—take off your coat and hat, roll up your sleeves and show us a better way of doing things. Show us a way of making the various city departments more efficient. When you come forward with some worth while suggestions, you shall be heard, but we have no room for the fellow who spreads our misfortunes and closes up like a clam when we do something worth while.

Aztec Astronomers

Walter Pach in the January Harpers' writes of the artistic and scientific achievements of the Aztecs and kindred races.

"The symbol of Mexico," he says, "might well be the pyramid, that most unshakable of forms which the ancient Mexicans, like the Egyptians, who are suggested in Mexico again and again, used in every part of their land. Imagine an artificial mountain, a quarter of a mile long on each of its four sides, solidly built of adobe bricks and faced with concrete. It is not a burial place like the Egyptian pyramids—the largest of which is not half as broad at the base as some of the Mexican structures, though of greater height—it is a pedestal lifting up toward the stars the Mexican temple, whose chief function, again, is to permit the study of the stars. Telescopes were unknown, but in each temple a deep well took the place of our more perfect instrument; and night and day, for thousands of years, the priests kept watch from their points of vantage, and wrote down their findings. As we progress in ability to decipher such of their records as have come down to us, the profundity of their knowledge becomes more astonishing. The movements of the heavenly bodies had been calculated with an accuracy that included not only the use of leap years but the elimination of a day every four hundred years to correct the excessive allowance which we make in giving to every fourth year an extra period of 24 hours. The observation of the sun calendar and the Venus-calendar, the two principal objects of study, gave rise to theories of number of which we are now learning only the first secrets. But we know enough to say that among none of the people of antiquity did the laws derived from astronomy and mathematics play a greater role. The number of steps leading to a temple, its proportions, and the proportions and decorations of the sculpture (which in Mexico is always more or less connected with religion, are all symbolic things, exactly determined by priestly calculation."

Odd and Interesting

For many years after the invention of Portland cement in 1824—just one hundred years ago—the process of its manufacture was kept a closely guarded secret by its inventor, Joseph Aspdin, an English bricklayer.

On the plea that such action is made necessary by southern competition, the Massachusetts cotton mill owners are agitating for a law permitting two shifts to be worked in the textile mills, under which women and minors would be permitted to work until 10 o'clock.

One of the little known wonders of London is the great tea auction which is held every day at a salesroom in Mincing Lane. The attendance consists of from one hundred to two hundred persons, made up of buyers for the great tea-distributing firms, blenders, brokers, and growers' agents, with a sprinkling of visitors from all parts of the world. Last year the enormous total of $21,001,700 pounds of tea was dealt with at this auction.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

NO. 2—UP THE BEANSTOCK

Nick looked at the magic bean that Silver Wing had given him. It certainly didn't look magic. It looked like the dried beans that your mother buys at the grocery store for baking, or that little boys shoot through bean-shooters.

Where was the fairy that they had been talking to on the purple thistle only a minute before? But there was the bean! There was no getting away from that. And, of course, they didn't want to get away from it, for hadn't Silver Wing said that it was the mate to Jack's bean, and that it would grow into a beanstalk just as his had if they would plant it.

"Come and get the magic shoes!" The fairy said for us to look for the magic green shoes before we tried to climb the magic beanstalk. We'd better put them on at once, Nancy, so we will be ready when it begins to grow."

Away they scampered to the big stone under the chestnut-tree, and there, just as Silver Wing had said, stood the four little green scalloped shoes.

As soon as the shoes were on, Nick knelt down and made a little hole in the ground with a stick. Then he dropped the bean in and covered it up.

But scarcely had he gotten to his feet when the bean began to grow and an enormous green vine with a very thick stem shot up past them like a sky-rocket, straight for the sky.

"Come on, Nancy!" yelled Nick. "All aboard for Beanstalk Land, where the jolly giants live. I'll go first so that if there are any bad places I can tell you."

They passed the tree tops and the clouds and it didn't seem to be more than two minutes and a half until they came to the place where the beanstalk spread out like a ceiling over their heads.

But there was an opening and they clambered through.

And lo and behold, there they were in Beanstalk Land!

It looked like any other country to the Twins' curious eyes—until they saw a figure coming down the road toward them—a person of such a size as never, never had been their fortune to see. It was as though the church on the corner, steeple and all, had suddenly decided to take a stroll.

"Look!" exclaimed Nick, pointing. "It's one of the giants!" The giant wore wooden shoes and they went clap, clap, clap when he set his feet down. Down on earth it must have sounded like thunder.

"Oh, my! I hope he won't step on us," said Nancy, and she pulled Nick down behind a log.
